10 Men Arrested In Weirton Raids By State Officers

Rockefeller Will Ignore GOP Rivals

Governor To Wage Campaign Directly Against President

WASHINGTON (AP) — When Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller cranks up his campaign for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination about five months from now, he intends to run against President Kennedy rather than potential GOP rivals.

This strategy decision, reported by one of the New York governor's closest associates, is based on what his advisers believe are the necessities of any effort to beat Kennedy, rather than overconfidence about obtaining the nomination.

Rockefeller's associates know the governor isn't going to get the party prize without fighting for it. They are well aware GOP conservatives will make a massive effort to head him off.

But Rockefeller's associates obviously think the nomination isn't going to be worth much unless the man who gets it has already laid the groundwork for the general election campaign by establishing his position in opposition to the Democratic president on major issues.

Rockefeller's decision also offers the prospect of avoiding the kind of party splitting battle.

Rockefeller is delaying any signal for pre-convention organization work until a month after his state legislature adjourns. For practical purposes he will not be free until May to give much time to any quest for the nomination.

Rockefeller's decision to delay his drive for the nomination fits in with the plans of a couple of potential rivals, Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., and Gov.-elect George Romney of Michigan.

Richard G. Kleindienst, Arizona state chairman, said he thinks Goldwater will take a hard look at developments in the next few months before he makes any final decision on whether to plunge into the nomination race.

The Arizona chairman took issue with Goldwater's own position that he can't go out after the

Ashtabula Blanketed

Snow Again Hits Ohio's Northeast

ASHTABULA, Ohio (AP) — A heavy snowfall, ranging up to two feet, slammed into Ohio's extreme northeast section along a thin band touching Lake Erie today.

The U.S. Weather Bureau in Cleveland said the freak snowfall was produced by strong winds blowing across the relatively warm lake (43 degrees) and colliding with temperatures around 15 degrees on shore.

Ohio's coastline juts out east of Cleveland and this section — the northern tier of Geauga and Ashtabula counties and most of Lake County—was battered by the new snow. Most roads were closed, including portions of Interstate 90 along the Pennsylvania border.

The Weather Bureau said the new snow is not associated with any storm pattern. It forecast intermittent snow showers for the area all during the day from this lake-effect disturbance.

Snow ranging from 20-24 inches was reported in northern Ashtabula County and up to 16 inches in northern Geauga County by the Weather Bureau. Southern Ashtabula County, on the other hand, had only one to three inches of new snow.

"It's still coming down heavy," a highway patrolman in Ashtabula County reported at 6:30 a.m. "It's a light, feathery snow, but it's really accumulating fast. The drifts are four to five feet deep."

Highway crews said plows were able to clear the new snow more easily than was the case during last week's storm.

In Cleveland and Cuyahoga County, the Weather Bureau predicted a maximum of 3 inches by this evening and 4 to 6 inches by morning, mostly in the eastern suburbs. Snow, accompanied by wind gusts up to 25 miles an hour, began falling in the Cleveland area just before dawn and caused some drifts.

Mountainous drifts piled up by strong winds accompanying last week's two-day storm closed many roads, and abandoned cars complicated the problem of clearing them.

At least 22 persons died in Ohio as a result of the storm. Most of them were victims of heart attacks from shoveling snow or pushing stalled cars. The three most recent deaths came from the Greater Cleveland area.

Main highways in Northern Ohio were open to traffic Sunday although they were slippery in spots, according to the Cleveland Automobile Club. Some secondary roads still were impassable, it added.

The area in and around Cleveland was one of the hardest hit. All schools in the area suspended classes Friday and many businesses and industrial plants closed down operations for the day.

Many schools remained closed today.

Cleveland Hopkins Airport closed down Thursday night at the Raiders Use Sledges To Force Entry

18 Troopers Enter 6 Bars And Clubs Within Lone Block

WEIRTON — Ten persons were arrested in sudden raids by 18 West Virginia State Police officers at six taverns and alleged gaming parlors in a one-block sector of the city Saturday.

Led by Lt. W. R. Seal of Co. A State Police Headquarters in Shinnston, the officers raided five establishments at 3 in the afternoon and returned at 11 p. m. to hit another.

The raiding party used sledge hammers to break down the doors to what was described as an elaborately-equipped gaming casino—the Serbian Athletic Club — and confiscated equipment used for playing blackjack, barbut and horse races, plus six slot machines and a roulette wheel, valued at a total of $10,000.

Seven of those arrested were fined a total of $1,050 at hearings later before Squire Thomas Bellanco of Weirton. Hearings were set Saturday for five others.

Arrested at the SAC establishment were Louis Gresko, George H. P. Gorman and Edward J. Stewart.

Gresko was fined $50 on a charge of posession of whisky and pleaded innocent to a second charge of possession of gaming equipment. Bond was set at $105 for next Saturday's hearing.

Gorman posted $105 bond for a hearing on a charge of operating a gambling table and Stewart, the alleged doorman of the SAC establishment, also posted $105 bond for next Saturday's hearing.

Police made five other raids in the afternoon at these establishments, arresting the following who were fined later:

The Q Club, Robert (Ted) Krukowski, fined $200 for possession of numbers and $200 for sale of numbers.

West Rejects Soviet Offer On A-Device

Russians Propose To Allow 3 'Black Boxes' For Testing

GENEVA (AP) — The Soviet Union offered today to install three internationally operated robot devices on Soviet territory to police a ban on underground nuclear tests.

Western spokesmen said the offer of three "black boxes" was totally inadequate.

Soviet Delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin told the 17-nation disarmament conference the Soviet Union would permit international inspectors to service the devices and remove the automatically recorded tapes of earth tremors.

The Soviet offer was first put forward—apparently by mistake—in a news conference given Friday by a Soviet spokesman, Alexei Roshchin. Roshchin told newsmen Tsarapkin had made the offer and then denied it. All spokesmen agreed that the Soviet delegate finally made the firm offer at today's two-hour conference session.

The Western powers maintain that the black boxes can serve only as an auxiliary detection method and can never fully replace manned control posts and on-site inspections.

Western officials said Tsarapkin's offer of one monitor in each of the Soviet Union's three main earthquake regions was completely inadequate even as an auxiliary system. The West believes at least 100 would be necessary inside the Soviet Union.

DiSalle Fails In Bid To Get Probe Report

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy turned down a request by Gov. Michael V. DiSalle today for a liquor grand jury report for the avowed purpose of making it public.

The attorney general said the governor lacks authority to make such an order.

DiSalle demanded a transcript of the seven-week proceedings of a special grand jury investigating claims of influence peddling to get liquor brands listed for sale in state stores.

The governor said he wanted to know "the whole story—the whole stinking mess."

The request to McElroy followed discharge of the grand jury last week upon disclosure that the foreman had a long prison record.

Soviet Russia Slates Record Budget In '63

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government unveiled today a record budget of 87.6 billion rubles for 1963, including an increase of 3.6 per cent in acknowledged military spending.

The new military budget will be 13.9 billion rubles, compared to 13.4 billion this year. Officially, one ruble is valued at $1.11.

Finance Minister Vasily Garbusov presented the new budget at the opening session of the Supreme Soviet.

Mine Toll Now 15

Rescuers Sight 8 Bodies In Tunnel

CARMICHAELS, Pa. (AP) — Rescue teams probing an explosion-rocked coal mine tunnel, where 37 miners were trapped, located today an increasingly higher number of bodies.

The bodies of eight more victims were sighted, bringing to 15 the number of miners accounted for and leaving 22 still missing.

The bodies were in an area 810 feet in advance of a fresh-air base located 1,758 feet from where a tremendous blast occurred Thursday afternoon at the U.S. Steel Corp. Robena No. 3 mine at a depth of 650 feet.

A U.S. Steel spokesman said the mine's ventilation system in the area where the latest bodies were sighted is "completely disrupted."

Repairs to the ventilating system will take considerable time, and it will be a while before it is possible to recover the bodies, he said.

Rescue workers recovered six bodies Sunday and one on Saturday from the soft coal mine located some 50 miles southwest of Pittsburgh.

The latest discovery bore out a prediction by Lewis Evans, state secretary of mines, that there is a good possibility rescuers may reach more men within the next 1,000 feet.

Evans said he believed most of the entombed miners were about 1,000 feet from the mine face—the farthest point of digging at the time of the explosion.

The Rev. Andrew Horvath of Point Marion, a Roman Catholic priest who gave last rites of his church to some of the victims in a makeshift morgue in rescue headquarters, said some of the bodies were badly mangled.

John Moore, industrial relations manager for U.S. Steel's Frick Mines District, said "a gas ignition (explosion) had killed them."

White House Denies It

'Life' Claims President Assisted Article On Adlai

NEW YORK (AP)—Life magazine reports that President Kennedy personally threw open government files to two newsmen who wrote an account of U.N. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson's role in the Cuban crisis. The White House said the Life article was "completely without foundation."

Life said Sunday that the President's intention was for the two Saturday Evening Post writers to prepare a semi-official chronology of the event of the October crisis but that their resulting story tended to make out Stevenson as an appeaser.

Stevenson and the White House have denied the role attributed to him in the Post by writers Charles Bartlett and Stewart Alsop. And after three days of controversy, Kennedy expressed "fullest confidence" in the United Nations ambassador.

Nevertheless, Life said, Bartlett and Alsop "planted the seeds of trouble, which could yet bring about Stevenson's withdrawal from the government."

After the Post article appeared last week, there was published speculation that Kennedy was, as the New York Daily News put it, "greasing the skids" for Stevenson's ouster several months hence.

Life disputed, point by point, the Post account of Stevenson's Cuban crisis role. It said Stevenson, rather than advocating a soft hand, as the Post had indicated, "insisted that a very strong U.S. position be taken at once."

The Life article, by its Washington bureau chief John L. Steele, named no source for its report.

"Bartlett joined talents with Stewart Alsop, the Saturday Evening Post's Washington editor.

"Thereafter, on White House orders, the doors of the State Department and the Central Intelligence Agency were thrown open to the two reporters. Neither writer talked with Stevenson."

Stevenson later described the Post article as a "classic example of irresponsible journalism" and said it was "fallacious from beginning to end, in every detail."

The decision to impose the Cuban blockade was made at an executive committee meeting of the National Security Council, attended by Stevenson and Kennedy.

There was no immediate explanation of how the two Post writers could have erred in reporting Stevenson's position, as Life maintained, if they had access to the secret government files that Life said they had.

Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, commented on the Life article at Palm Springs, Calif., where the President was relaxing.

"That story is absolutely and completely without foundation," Salinger said.

Kennedy Meets Rusk After Desert Weekend

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy flew back today from a tour of nuclear installations in the West and a brief weekend of relaxation under the desert sun.

His big jet plane landed at Andrews Air Force Base at 8:25 a.m., just four and a half hours after takeoff from the Palm Springs, Calif., airport.

Kennedy's first announced business back in the capital was an 11 a.m. conference with Secretary of State Dean Rusk, preparatory to Rusk's flight to Paris tonight for a North Atlantic Treaty Organization conference.

U.S. Weighs Longer Term Aid To India

3-Stage Plan May Provide Arms For Rebuilding Defense

WASHINGTON (AP)—Military members of a U.S. mission that surveyed India's critical arms needs reportedly have recommended a three-stage aid plan that could last for years.

Beyond emergency patchup measures to bolster the outnumbered and outgunned Indians in their border dispute with Communist China, the U.S. experts were said to have proposed rebuilding steps for next year and fundamental modernization actions to continue perhaps for years ahead.

Dollar figures were kept secret, but there was informed speculation that it might cost $1 billion to bring India's outdated arms and military organization up to standard.

Emergency help rushed to India by this country so far was said by qualified sources to total nearly $15 million.

Gen. Paul D. Adams, chief of the U.S. Strike Command and senior military officer of the U.S. mission that returned recently from India, was said to have listed winter clothing as the first and most pressing need for India's fighting men. Many were rushed into the mountainous north still wearing light dress suitable to the heat of the lowlands.

Adams was described as deeply impressed with the caliber of the Indian troops and their officers.

It was considered significant, U.S. sources said, that the Indian soldiers who were forced to retreat before heavy Chinese attacks often brought back their weapons. This indicated they were disciplined and not routed in panic.

The immediate need is to furnish light weapons and gear that can be carried on a soldier's back at high altitudes and in mountainous terrain.

India should have little trouble getting the pick of her manpower in expanding her 600,000-man army, U.S. sources said.

Because of the higher standard of living in India's armed forces than among the population as a whole, there are said to be about 300 applicants for each opening in the ranks.

The stores will operate until 8:30 on Tuesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights. The business places will close at 5 today. Following a Christmas season custom, stores will skip their usual Wednesday noon closing and remain open until 5 p. m. Later hours also are scheduled next week.

Chester High Sees $1,030 Loss In Entry

Property loss was estimated today at $1,030 in a burglary Saturday night or early Sunday at Chester High School.

Chester police are continuing investigation of the entry, in which intruders fled with a 16-millimeter sound movie projector, a tape recorder, a record player and a typewriter from the high school office and an electric sewing machine from the home economics department.

Police said entry was gained by breaking a window on the rear of the building, leading into the home economics department. Another pane was broken in the door of the school office.

The office apparently was not ransacked, police said.

The burglary was discovered by Lester Lutton of Indiana Ave., one of the school's janitors, who went to the school Sunday afternoon to check on the coal furnace.

He found the broken pane in the office door. Lutton then notified Principal R. M. McFarland of California Ave.

The principal notified Police Chief Clarence Lennens at 1:40 p.m. yesterday. The loss is insured, police said.

British Push Into Brunei Rebel Areas

Troops Meet Stiff Fighting In Attack Against Oil Fields

BRUNEI TOWN, Brunei (AP)—British troops launched a determined attack today on rebel forces in Brunei's rich Seria oil fields.

A force of 700 Gurkhas and British troops was met by stiff rebel resistance. But reports reaching Brunei Town said the main rebel force was surrounded.

There were no immediate reports of casualties from Seria.

There were skirmishes today in Brunei Town, the capital, and one British soldier was wounded.

Gurkhas and the Queen's Own Highlanders fanned out through the oil-rich little sultanate on the northern coast of Borneo as the British pressed to put down the three-day-old nationalist uprising.

More than 500 rebels were reported to have surrendered, and many others reportedly fled into the jungles.

The government banned the territory's only sizeable political group, the Rakyat (People's) Party, and charged it was linked with the revolt. The party, often accused of leftist leanings, holds 16 of the 33 seats on the legislative council elected last August.

The situation was obscure at another oilfield at Kuala Belait, but the police post there was said to be in government hands.

Unconfirmed reports said Shell Oil Co. European employes at Seria were used as "human shields" by the rebels and that two were killed and eight gravely wounded.

The self-proclaimed rebel lead-

$10,000 Loss Set As Flames Destroy Barn

At least $10,000 damage was estimated today as the result of a fire which destroyed a barn and its contents Saturday afternoon on the Thomas Whitehill farm off Route 168 near Kendall in the Georgetown area.

James Whitehill, 40, of Georgetown R. D. 1, who lives next door to the farm and was operating it, was treated Saturday at 9:30 p.m. at City Hospital for first and second degree burns of the face.

The fire was believed to have started about 3 p. m. Firemen were summoned from Hookstown, Shippingport and Lawrenceville.

The fire destroyed three heifers, about a year old, a wagon, elevator, straw, 1,500 to 2,000 bales of hay and about a ton of feed. A silo was burned, leaving only one side of it standing.

James Whitehill said he was cleaning the stables when the fire started. He said the fire may

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy flew back today from a tour of nuclear installations in the West and a brief weekend of relaxation under the desert sun.

His big jet plane landed at Andrews Air Force Base at 8:25 a.m., just four and a half hours after takeoff from the Palm Springs, Calif., airport.

Kennedy's first announced business back in the capital was an 11 a.m. conference with Secretary of State Dean Rusk, preparatory to Rusk's flight to Paris tonight for a North Atlantic Treaty Organization conference.

U.S. Weighs Longer Term Aid To India

3-Stage Plan May Provide Arms For Rebuilding Defense

WASHINGTON (AP)—Military members of a U.S. mission that surveyed India's critical arms needs reportedly have recommended a three-stage aid plan that could last for years.

Beyond emergency patchup measures to bolster the outnumbered and outgunned Indians in their border dispute with Communist China, the U.S. experts were said to have proposed rebuilding steps for next year and fundamental modernization actions to continue perhaps for years ahead.

Dollar figures were kept secret, but there was informed speculation that it might cost $1 billion to bring India's outdated arms and military organization up to standard.

Emergency help rushed to India by this country so far was said by qualified sources to total nearly $15 million.

Gen. Paul D. Adams, chief of the U.S. Strike Command and senior military officer of the U.S. mission that returned recently from India, was said to have listed winter clothing as the first and most pressing need for India's fighting men. Many were rushed into the mountainous north still wearing light dress suitable to the heat of the lowlands.

Adams was described as deeply impressed with the caliber of the Indian troops and their officers.

It was considered significant, U.S. sources said, that the Indian soldiers who were forced to retreat before heavy Chinese attacks often brought back their weapons. This indicated they were disciplined and not routed in panic.

The immediate need is to furnish light weapons and gear that can be carried on a soldier's back at high altitudes and in mountainous terrain.

India should have little trouble getting the pick of her manpower in expanding her 600,000-man army, U.S. sources said.

Because of the higher standard of living in India's armed forces than among the population as a whole, there are said to be about 300 applicants for each opening in the ranks.

The stores will operate until 8:30 on Tuesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights. The business places will close at 5 today. Following a Christmas season custom, stores will skip their usual Wednesday noon closing and remain open until 5 p. m. Later hours also are scheduled next week.

Merchants also reminded shoppers the city administration has decreed metered parking is free after noon on Wednesday and after 5 p. m. every other day during the Christmas seson.

Chester High Sees $1,030 Loss In Entry

Property loss was estimated today at $1,030 in a burglary Saturday night or early Sunday at Chester High School.

Chester police are continuing investigation of the entry, in which intruders fled with a 16-millimeter sound movie projector, a tape recorder, a record player and a typewriter from the high school office and an electric sewing machine from the home economics department.

Police said entry was gained by breaking a window on the rear of the building, leading into the home economics department. Another pane was broken in the door of the school office.

The office apparently was not ransacked, police said.

The burglary was discovered by Lester Lutton of Indiana Ave., one of the school's janitors, who went to the school Sunday afternoon to check on the coal furnace.

He found the broken pane in the office door. Lutton then notified Principal R. M. McFarland of California Ave.

The principal notified Police Chief Clarence Lennens at 1:40 p.m. yesterday. The loss is insured, police said.

British Push Into Brunei Rebel Areas

Troops Meet Stiff Fighting In Attack Against Oil Fields

BRUNEI TOWN, Brunei (AP)—British troops launched a determined attack today on rebel forces in Brunei's rich Seria oil fields.

A force of 700 Gurkhas and British troops was met by stiff rebel resistance. But reports reaching Brunei Town said the main rebel force was surrounded.

There were no immediate reports of casualties from Seria.

There were skirmishes today in Brunei Town, the capital, and one British soldier was wounded.

Gurkhas and the Queen's Own Highlanders fanned out through the oil-rich little sultanate on the northern coast of Borneo as the British pressed to put down the three-day-old nationalist uprising.

More than 500 rebels were reported to have surrendered, and many others reportedly fled into the jungles.

The government banned the territory's only sizeable political group, the Rakyat (People's) Party, and charged it was linked with the revolt. The party, often accused of leftist leanings, holds 16 of the 33 seats on the legislative council elected last August.

The situation was obscure at another oilfield at Kuala Belait, but the police post there was said to be in government hands.

Unconfirmed reports said Shell Oil Co. European employes at Seria were used as "human shields" by the rebels and that two were killed and eight gravely wounded.

Cold Spell Forecast Over Next 5 Days; Storms Expected

Tuesday will be mostly cloudy and cold with more snow flurries, the weatherman said.

The Ohio weatherman said the accumulation in this section of the state will total 2 to 4 inches, forecaster said.

$10,000 Loss Set As Flames Destroy Barn

At least $10,000 damage was estimated today as the result of a fire which destroyed a barn and its contents Saturday afternoon on the Thomas Whitehill farm off Route 168 near Kendall in the Georgetown area.

James Whitehill, 40, of Georgetown R. D. 1, who lives next door to the farm and was operating it, was treated Saturday at 9:30 p.m. at City Hospital for first and second degree burns of the face.

The fire was believed to have started about 3 p. m. Firemen were summoned from Hookstown, Shippingport and Lawrenceville.

The fire destroyed three heifers, about a year old, a wagon, elevator, straw, 1,500 to 2,000 bales of hay and about a ton of feed. A silo was burned, leaving only one side of it standing.

James Whitehill said he was cleaning the stables when the fire started. He said the fire may

4 Arrested At Findlay For Sales On Sunday

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP) — Four persons were arrested Sunday in Findlay's continuing crackdown on Ohio Sunday closing law violators.

Two persons were arrested for allegedly selling Christmas trees at the DeHaven Garden Center. They were the owner, John DeHaven, and an employe.

Others arrested were Jack McCracken, manager of a grocery store, and Wesley Fout, manager of a carry-out.

City Solicitor Russell Rakestraw and Hancock County Prosecutor Garver Oxley had announced late Saturday night that grocery stores would be permitted to stay open Sunday because of the heavy snow in the area.

McCracken was arrested, however, because he sold gloves and other non-food items, police said.

Snow Grips West Virginia

By The Associated Press

Numbing cold, new snow and high winds kept alive a wintry blast in West Virginia today, forcing schools in at least three counties to suspend classes and hampering highway traffic.

Schools in Logan, Preston and Monongalia counties were closed because of road conditions.

The State Road Commission at Charleston reported that from one to seven inches of new snow came down during the night in a number of counties.

And the Weather Bureau in Charleston said more was expected today.

State Police reported that major highways were open, but chains were recommended in many areas, particularly in the mountains. Secondary routes remained blocked in some rural areas.

Temperatures plunged to their lowest mark of the season during the night. Flat Top in Southern West Virginia was the coldest spot, with 6 above. Bluefield recorded 8 above.

Other lows included Elkins 12, Parkersburg and Wheeling 13, Huntington and Charleston 15, and Martinsburg 17.

High winds and snow squalls made travel hazardous in some areas yesterday.

When a recipe calls for ¼ cup of an ingredient, use a ¼-cup nest-type measure; there are 4 tablespoons in ¼ cup, but using a tablespoon as a measure may not give you the same accuracy.

Numbing cold, new snow and high winds kept alive a wintry blast in West Virginia today, forcing schools in at least three counties to suspend classes and hampering highway traffic.

Schools in Logan, Preston and Monongalia counties were closed because of road conditions.

The State Road Commission at Charleston reported that from one to seven inches of new snow came down during the night in a number of counties.

And the Weather Bureau in Charleston said more was expected today.

State Police reported that major highways were open, but chains were recommended in many areas, particularly in the mountains. Secondary routes remained blocked in some rural areas.

Temperatures plunged to their lowest mark of the season during the night. Flat Top in Southern West Virginia was the coldest spot, with 6 above. Bluefield recorded 8 above.

Other lows included Elkins 12, Parkersburg and Wheeling 13, Huntington and Charleston 15, and Martinsburg 17.

High winds and snow squalls made travel hazardous in some areas yesterday.

End Of A Crazy Idea

If Congress goes along with the proposal for substantial tax cuts and sweeping tax reform in 1963, it will be the end of a crazy idea.

The idea gained currency in the '30s. It came to full flower in the doctrine of John Maynard Keynes, the English economist who fascinated New Dealers.

Keynes regarded taxation as an instrument of national policy — a lever for doing things to business and to society.

He believed that politicians should be licensed to practice taxation the way doctors are licensed to practice medicine and on the same supposition — that the politicans know what is good for people and will improve the people's lot because the people themselves cannot be trusted to judge what is good for them.

AT A TIME when the welfare state was expanding its needs faster than a spendthrift son spending his first year at college, the Keynesian doctrine of spending for recovery was as popular as unexpected money from home.

That was the era when Harry Hopkins is supposed to have given the formula for winning elections of tax, spend and elect.

It was the era when Franklin Roosevelt rationalized borrowing to meet multibillion deficits by saying it was "money we owed ourselves."

It was a time of nonsense, and we never lived it down. The nonsense is still with us, but at long last a Democratic administration has recanted.

Taxes, it admits, can stifle initiative and kill enterprise. They can slow up economic growth.

Therefore, the way to stimulate initiative and breathe new life into enterprise — the way to spur economic growth — is to diminish the tax bite. This is the way it has been done successfully in countries like France, Japan and Italy.

The United States has had to learn from governments that have been accepting U.S. economic aid that the best break it can give its own producers is to ease up on taxes.

IDEALLY, a higher rate of producing and consuming would more than make up for rate reduction. But even if it works out less than ideally, the newly stimulated economy would carry the nation eventually to new heights of prosperity.

Farewell, then, to the New Dealers and their preachment that taxes have some kind of a therapeutic value — that they are good for us even though we gag at the thought and choke on the dosage — that the taxers know best even though we think they're killing us with the wrong treatment.

A Boost For Seat Belts

Seat belts now are being used or soon will be installed in police cars in 172 of 214 medium-to-large cities around the country according to a recent press dispatch from Detroit.

The story was based on a survey by the firm which makes belt webbing and was designed to determine how many police departments use seat belts in their patrol cars and what the policemen think of them.

The survey showed that 132 police departments have all or some of their vehicles equipped with belts and another 40 have plans to install them. Forty-two departments are without belts.

A separate survey conducted by the Auto Industries Highway Safety Committee indicates that nearly 4.5 million autos now are equipped with belts — an increase of 2.5 million in a one-year period.

As to the reaction of the police to the belts, two departments said the belts prevented serious injuries to their patrolmen. New York and Detroit credited belts with saving lives of policemen.

The Charleston, W. Va., department, which plans to install belts, said some of its officers in the accident prevention division are so sold on the belts "they already have bought their own."

Most police departments queried in the survey, use the regular lap-type belt. However Los Angeles reports that vehicles used on freeway patrols are equipped with harness-type belts.

Malden, Mass., is the only city in the survey that uses shoulder harness in regular city patrol work, but use of the seat belt is mandatory in six of the cities included in the survey.

With police safety departments not only extolling the merits of seat belts but setting the example by their use, it should be much easier for the National Safety Council to break down the resistance of the reluctant motorist.

The Boom In Education

Although the much-heralded wave of freshmen did not materialize, college enrollment in the United States totaled more than 4.2 million students this fall. The figure betters all previous records by 8.1 per cent and also is the 11th consecutive yearly increase.

Figures reported by the U.S. Office of Education this week show this is the first time that total enrollment has exceeded 4 million. The previous record was 3.89 in the fall of 1961.

The statistics show the number of students enrolled for the first time in college is 1.04 million, up only 13,000 above the fall of 1961. By contrast the 1961 figure was 96,264 higher than the freshman enrollment of 929,823 in the fall of 1960.

In a further breakdown of the Office of Education statistics, the figures show there were 2,603,000 men and 1,604,000 women compared with 2,424,000 men and 1,467,000 women a year earlier.

The number of women enrolled has increased 19.7 per cent since the fall of 1960 while the number of male students has gone up only 14.6 per cent.

An independent survey conducted by Dr. Garland G. Parker of the University of Cincinnati shows the University of California remains the nation's largest educational institution in fulltime enrollment with 56,519, though City University of New York has pushed ahead of the California school with 93,214 total enrollment.

In fields of professional studies, Dr. Parker found engineering freshmen declined by 5.7 per cent while education went up 3.2 per cent and arts and sciences by 1.4 per cent. He said, business, agriculture and nursing enrollments also declined.

In the Big Ten, Minnesota's 33,616 enrollment is tops in the conference and fourth in the nation. Ohio State with 26,962 is fourth in the Big Ten, behind Minnesota, Wisconsin and Illinois, and is seventh in the nation.

It isn't certain that all these statistics prove anything but it is interesting to note that the administration in Washington is blaming the rise in unemployment in November to the number of student-age persons seeking employment.

You Too, Mr. Bull

By Truman Twill

If Queen Elizabeth, Prime Minister Macmillan, or John Bull himself jumped out of a Rolls Royce to ask about joining the European Economic Community I'd tell 'em. Straight from the shoulder.

This is because I have been having second thoughts about the South.

I'd hate to see British irreconcilables head for a collision in Europe over the same issues that separate the North and South 100 years after the Civil War.

Britain is being torn apart politically over whether to throw in with the European Economic Community, which would be the first step toward a United States of Europe. Many Britons, notably Labor party plliticians, are fighting to save Britain's identity.

Some Europeans, notably Charles de Gaulle, strong man of France, also doubt that Britain belongs in a United States of Europe. They mistruct British capacity for getting along with Europeans at close range.

Sooner or later, if the British throw in their lot with a United States of Europe, trouble would boil and bubble over a collective decision at odds with British sentiment.

The British would get starchy. They would remember the famous occasions in the remote past when Britons refused to be pushed. Their Colonel Blimps would push out their bellies and start harumphing.

And the Old World would have a civil war going like a fire in a paint factory. Everybody would lose his shirt. No one would win.

It would be smarter for the British to sit on the proposition and wait for something to develop—perhaps a civil war between the European Economic Community and some other dissident member.

This would open the probability of British economic hardship, but it would beat the probability of eventual compulsory membership in Europe's new economic union—the greatest closed-shop design since Abraham Lincoln made it clear that the South had forfeited its right to drop out of the Union by joining it in the first place.

There won't be a United States of Europe without a civil war. Sooner or later someone is going to want out and there will be a showdown.

And if it comes to a showdown you can bet that a century later the losers still will be waving Confederate Flags and chanting "Dixie."

It shouldn't happen to the good old British. They're too important to the rest of us.

They're the only people in the Old World we can love over here in the New World.

If they know what's good for them they will not jeopardize their independence by stringing along with people they would fight with, as they always have in the past.

Instead of getting into the European Economic Community in haste and being sorry for it at leisure, they should play hard to get. If they hold out long enough, they'll be rich.

You can bet on it, your Majesty, Mr. Prime Minister and you, too, Mr. Bull.

This and That

Natures miracle substance has to be wood, one scientist exclaimed recently. No other natural material can do all the things that wood can do. It can be sawed, bored, nailed, turned, planed, painted, treated, stained, and it will not rust.

A second story wood deck opening off a master bedroom and extending over a garden area is an area for dreaming and relaxing. You get a feeling of soaring as you rest on a raised deck.

Silence Isn't Necessarily Golden

A Respected Senator Speaks Out

By David Lawrence

Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia is an important and influential member of Congress. He is a Democrat and chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, one of the most important posts in Washington. But when he made a public comment criticizing President Kennedy's policy in Cuba, it didn't get printed even in the late editions of some of the leading morning newspapers of the country. It was published in Washington, however, where it doubtless was read by the administration.

David Lawrence

The Associated Press carried some of the quotations on its wires around 11 p.m. Wednesday. So did United Press International at about the same time. The excerpts were taken from an interview earlier that evening over station WSB-TV in Atlanta with Lloyd Russell — no relation to the senator. The transcript, which has since become available, shows that Sen. Russell said:

"We have temporized. We have even lifted the quarantine. Frankly, I thought that was a mistake. I didn't think we should lift the quarantine, or make any guarantees as to Cuba, until we had had the right of on-site inspection throughout Cuba."

This sums up also the opinion of many Americans — regardless of party. It is felt that the United States gave away its trump card when it withdrew its "quarantine" or blockade and demobilized the troops which had been assembled in the southeastern part of this country.

Whether this step was taken as a trade or concession to the Soviet Union has never been revealed. U Thant, secretary general of the United Nations, spoke the other day of the "compromise" on Cuba and of the "principle of give and take."

SEN. RUSSELL now accuses the administration of having made a blunder in withdrawing the blockade before on-site inspection was assured. He deplores the policy, no matter whether it was adopted to conciliate the Soviets or to assist Mikoyan somehow in dealing with Castro.

Sen. Russell added:

"Eventually we will have to rid this hemisphere of Castro and all that he stands for. . . . I would be in favor of doing it now if we could make a joint effort with the other Latin American states. But since Russia claims that they have moved the missiles, and since our government has accepted their word about it — and why on earth we should have accepted their word I don't know."

The chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee went on to declare that he hoped the United States would make no further "concessions" because, as it is, "we have not been able to hold the initial gain we made in Cuba when Khrushchev promised to remove the missiles." He continued:

"Here three months ago we were pledged to see that Castroism in this hemisphere was destroyed. We have now been euchred into the position of babysitting for Castro and guaranteeing the integrity of the Communist regime in Cuba, and we don't know for a positive fact that the missiles and the bombers have been removed. I assume that they have, but all we have seen is a box that they said contained the bomber, and a long metal container that they said contained the missile. . . .

"I certainly hope that we will not make any further concessions until we at least have the right to send the United Nations team in there to see that there are no missiles hidden in the caves or other strategic places in Cuba, and we have the right to test to see whether there are any atomic nuclear warheads there.

"That is a test that can be carried on through instrumentation and is reasonably accurate."

THESE ARE strong comments by a member of the President's own party in the Senate. If a Republican had made them, they would have been characterized as just an anti-administration or anti-Kennedy view. But Sen. Russell is a man of independence and is respected in both parties. He has always taken a non-partisan position where the military security of the United States is at stake.

There has been a kind of smokescreen drawn to obscure the facts, due perhaps to policies of "manipulating" the news in and around the Pentagon.

Sen. Russell said the world "has accepted the fact that we have won a great diplomatic victory here, whether we have or not."

He added: "The Russians are just following their old policy. The Communists start out on a course of action that they know is wrong, and when you call their hand they say, "all right, we'll stop this if you'll give us something over here' that they know they have no right to whatever. And that is what they did to us in Cuba."

AS MATTERS stand now, the United States government has never followed up its protest against the Soviet Union for having put the missiles in Cuba in the first place.

Why was this threat of aggression ignored in the U. N.? There is a studied effort in administration circles to give the impression that "appeasement" has been discarded and that the United States has gotten tough with Khrushchev. The evidence, however, doesn't show it as yet. U.S. officials admit there are several thousand Russians in Cuba, along with some MIG-15 and MIG-21 fighter planes capable of carrying nuclear weapons.

The size-up that Sen. Russell has made could lead to a full investigation at the January session of Congress.

Adenauer's Leadership

By James Marlow

Retirement Of 'Der Alte' Poses Question

WASHINGTON

West Germany's Chancellor Adenauer is getting the same shove British Prime Minister Churchill got seven years ago: Out. The reason is the same: Too old.

None of the other old-timers who have been dominating world events in the 20th Century's middle years shows any signs of quitting voluntarily. None, however, is in his 80s, like Churchill and Adenauer.

In 1955, when Churchill was 81, some of the men closest to him told him he was too old to head the government any longer. They urged him to quit for the good of the country. He didn't want to go.

After Stalin's death in 1953 he dreamed of a summit meeting with the Russians. If there had been any change in the Kremlin, he thought, a long peace for Europe might be worked out. Pressure persisted. He quit in April 1955.

Then, just a few months later, there was a summit conference with his successor, Anthony Eden, taking part. Nothing much came of it. Churchill is 88 now.

Adenauer will be 87 in January. He's been the only chancellor West Germany has had since it was established in 1949. West Germany, like Britain when Churchill left, is enjoying its greatest prosperity.

In those 13 years Adenauer not only led West Germany into close alliance with its enemies of two world wars — the United States, Britain, France — but into a democratic society away from its ancient authoritarianism.

Like Churchill, Adenauer has been reluctant to go. Like Churchill, he still feels he has unfinished business. In his case it's tighter relations with France and cementing the Common Market, of which Germany is a part.

If there ever is a United States of Europe it will probably spring from those beginnings. Thus Adenauer has been a tremendous force.

Yet, in recent years the feeling has grown in Germany that anti-authoritarian Adenauer has himself become increasingly authoritarian. This feeling piled up and burst through in the German elections of September 1961.

His Christian Democratic Party failed to win a majority in Parliament. He had to seek the support of the Free Democrats, which meant a coalition government, to get himself chosen chancellor once more.

There was a price tag on this. The Free Democrats were willing to put up with him a while longer but not indefinitely. On Nov. 8, 1961 he gave a guarantee he would retire before his term ended in 1965.

But he didn't say exactly when. This became a sore point. The Free Democrats have just put the squeeze on him again. He let it be announced last Friday he'd leave in the fall of 1963.

His successor is expected to be Dr. Ludwig Erhard, minister of economics. He's expected to concentrate more on domestic problems, leaving the foreign ones to others.

Right here there's a difference between Britain without Churchill and Germany without Adenauer. Britain has had a long tradition of democracy and a tremendous sense of continuity in its leadership.

Churchill's going meant no basic changes in Britain. But Germany has had a democratic system only 13 years and, before that, a long history of authoritarianism, whether under the Nazis or an emperor.

Since West Germany's democratic roots, therefore, are recent, they are not so sure as Britain's. While Germany under Adenauer was both a friend and an ally, it may not remain that way under those coming after him.

War On Georgia Traps

By Barnett D. Laschever

ATLANTA

Only a few hours after my arrival in this burgeoning Southern capital I was asked a curious question during a radio interview: "What aspect of Georgia is of most interest to New Yorkers?"

Sad to say, I could only answer, "New Yorkers most want to know how they can drive through Georgia, en route to Florida destinations, without getting caught in a speed trap."

Question and answer were pertinent. I had flown to Georgia at the invitation of the State Department of Commerce to speak at the third annual Governor's Conference on Tourism. The meetings reflected a new and earnest interest in developing tourism in a state that has been regarded by most Northerners as merely a corridor.

THE SIGHT of all those Yankee dollars flowing by all these years has, however, proven to be more than the Georgians could stand. They hope to get across a new message to the Yankees: Georgia has much to offer the tourist, stop and dally a bit and enjoy life, Southern-style.

If the governor, members of his Department of Commerce and others in the vacation business are interested in pleasing the tourist, and making a buck or two in the process, other Georgians — a small albeit irritating bunch — have been separating Yankees from their dollars for several years via the unconscionable system of the speed trap.

At its worst, the speed trap is actually manipulated by small-town constables who switch traffic lights from green to red so that it is virtually impossible for a driver to stop. The car is then hailed and a bond, often as high as $35, demanded.

Virtually all motorists so stopped do a slow burn, but pay the bond rather than stick around several days and face a court hearing they know will result in conviction.

In its milder form the gimmick works like this: Unrealistic speed limits are placed at outskirts of undeveloped townships, and drivers who had been breezing along at 60 mph slow down, but not enough to escape the tentacles of the waiting peace officers.

They might just as well be called "piece" officers, because that's exactly what they are doing piecework. This then is the how and why of the speed trap. Local townships hire peace officers, pay them no salary, but guarantee a substantial percentage of all fines or forfeited bonds.

The situation has become so bad that the AAA, in routing drivers through Georgia, recommends detouring some towns, even though it adds as much as 50 miles to the trip.

On the state level, the Legislature last year passed a law restricting the use of electronic speed detection devices to the state police only. This is a first step toward eliminating the menace, but it doesn't stop peace officers from manipulating lights or from stopping cars after trailing them, and making a speeding accusation based on observation.

REALLY NEEDED are laws that ban the splitting of fees, fines and forfeited bonds with the officers, and insist instead that very small towns put their constables on salary or rely on county and state police for law enforcement.

Speaking at the tourism convention, Gov. S. Ernest Vandiver declared:

"Unless something is done now to eliminate speed traps, Georgia will always be a pass-through state, instead of a stay-and-visit state. I call on the people of Georgia's small towns to halt the speed traps and give Georgia back its good name. Speed traps must go."

At the last Toronto Exposition, the governor noted, Georgia's Department of Commerce had its first booth promoting the state's tourist charms, "but that instead of inquiries we received a flood of complaints about speed traps from irate Canadians."

Old, Old Story

Invasion is an old story in Assam, the state in northeast India that lies in the path of Chinese Communists.

Though frequently overrun by Moslems when the Mogul Empire controlled India, Assam never was completely subjugated.

In a passage especially pertinent today, a frustrated Mogul wrote:

"Whenever an invading army has entered their territories, the Assamese have sheltered themselves in strong posts, and have distressed the enemy by strategems, surprises, and alarms, and by cutting off their provisions . . . .In this manner, powerful and numerous armies have sunk in that whirlpool of destruction, and not a soul has escaped."

Assam, bordered by Burma, China, Bhutan and East Pakistan, is almost cut off from the main body of India. A narrow strip of land between Bhutan and East Pakistan connects the state with the rest of India.

Parker of the University of Cincinnati shows the University of California remains the nation's largest educational institution in fulltime enrollment with 56,519, though City University of New York has pushed ahead of the California school with 93,214 total enrollment.

In fields of professional studies, Dr. Parker found engineering freshmen declined by 5.7 per cent while education went up 3.2 per cent and arts and sciences by 1.4 per cent. He said, business, agriculture and nursing enrollments also declined.

In the Big Ten, Minnesota's 33,616 enrollment is tops in the conference and fourth in the nation. Ohio State with 26,962 is fourth in the Big Ten, behind Minnesota, Wisconsin and Illinois, and is seventh in the nation.

It isn't certain that all these statistics prove anything but it is interesting to note that the administration in Washington is blaming the rise in unemployment in November to the number of student-age persons seeking employment.

You Too, Mr. Bull

By Truman Twill

If Queen Elizabeth, Prime Minister Macmillan, or John Bull himself jumped out of a Rolls Royce to ask about joining the European Economic Community I'd tell 'em. Straight from the shoulder.

This is because I have been having second thoughts about the South.

I'd hate to see British irreconcilables head for a collision in Europe over the same issues that separate the North and South 100 years after the Civil War.

Britain is being torn apart politically over whether to throw in with the European Economic Community, which would be the first step toward a United States of Europe. Many Britons, notably Labor party plliticians, are fighting to save Britain's identity.

Some Europeans, notably Charles de Gaulle, strong man of France, also doubt that Britain belongs in a United States of Europe. They mistruct British capacity for getting along with Europeans at close range.

Sooner or later, if the British throw in their lot with a United States of Europe, trouble would boil and bubble over a collective decision at odds with British sentiment.

The British would get starchy. They would remember the famous occasions in the remote past when Britons refused to be pushed. Their Colonel Blimps would push out their bellies and start harumphing.

And the Old World would have a civil war going like a fire in a paint factory. Everybody would lose his shirt. No one would win.

It would be smarter for the British to sit on the proposition and wait for something to develop—perhaps a civil war between the European Economic Community and some other dissident member.

This would open the probability of British economic hardship, but it would beat the probability of eventual compulsory membership in Europe's new economic union—the greatest closed-shop design since Abraham Lincoln made it clear that the South had forfeited its right to drop out of the Union by joining it in the first place.

There won't be a United States of Europe without a civil war. Sooner or later someone is going to want out and there will be a showdown.

And if it comes to a showdown you can bet that a century later the losers still will be waving Confederate Flags and chanting "Dixie."

It shouldn't happen to the good old British. They're too important to the rest of us.

They're the only people in the Old World we can love over here in the New World.

If they know what's good for them they will not jeopardize their independence by stringing along with people they would fight with, as they always have in the past.

Instead of getting into the European Economic Community in haste and being sorry for it at leisure, they should play hard to get. If they hold out long enough, they'll be rich.

You can bet on it, your Majesty, Mr. Prime Minister and you, too, Mr. Bull.

This and That

Natures miracle substance has to be wood, one scientist exclaimed recently. No other natural material can do all the things that wood can do. It can be sawed, bored, nailed, turned, planed, painted, treated, stained, and it will not rust.

A second story wood deck opening off a master bedroom and extending over a garden area is an area for dreaming and relaxing. You get a feeling of soaring as you rest on a raised deck.

Silence Isn't Necessarily Golden

A Respected Senator Speaks Out

By David Lawrence

Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia is an important and influential member of Congress. He is a Democrat and chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, one of the most important posts in Washington. But when he made a public comment criticizing President Kennedy's policy in Cuba, it didn't get printed even in the late editions of some of the leading morning newspapers of the country. It was published in Washington, however, where it doubtless was read by the administration.

David Lawrence

The Associated Press carried some of the quotations on its wires around 11 p.m. Wednesday. So did United Press International at about the same time. The excerpts were taken from an interview earlier that evening over station WSB-TV in Atlanta with Lloyd Russell — no relation to the senator. The transcript, which has since become available, shows that Sen. Russell said:

"We have temporized. We have even lifted the quarantine. Frankly, I thought that was a mistake. I didn't think we should lift the quarantine, or make any guarantees as to Cuba, until we had had the right of on-site inspection throughout Cuba."

This sums up also the opinion of many Americans — regardless of party. It is felt that the United States gave away its trump card when it withdrew its "quarantine" or blockade and demobilized the troops which had been assembled in the southeastern part of this country.

Whether this step was taken as a trade or concession to the Soviet Union has never been revealed. U Thant, secretary general of the United Nations, spoke the other day of the "compromise" on Cuba and of the "principle of give and take."

SEN. RUSSELL now accuses the administration of having made a blunder in withdrawing the blockade before on-site inspection was assured. He deplores the policy, no matter whether it was adopted to conciliate the Soviets or to assist Mikoyan somehow in dealing with Castro.

Sen. Russell added:

"Eventually we will have to rid this hemisphere of Castro and all that he stands for. . . . I would be in favor of doing it now if we could make a joint effort with the other Latin American states. But since Russia claims that they have moved the missiles, and since our government has accepted their word about it — and why on earth we should have accepted their word I don't know."

The chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee went on to declare that he hoped the United States would make no further "concessions" because, as it is, "we have not been able to hold the initial gain we made in Cuba when Khrushchev promised to remove the missiles." He continued:

"Here three months ago we were pledged to see that Castroism in this hemisphere was destroyed. We have now been euchred into the position of babysitting for Castro and guaranteeing the integrity of the Communist regime in Cuba, and we don't know for a positive fact that the missiles and the bombers have been removed. I assume that they have, but all we have seen is a box that they said contained the bomber, and a long metal container that they said contained the missile. . . .

"I certainly hope that we will not make any further concessions until we at least have the right to send the United Nations team in there to see that there are no missiles hidden in the caves or other strategic places in Cuba, and we have the right to test to see whether there are any atomic nuclear warheads there.

"That is a test that can be carried on through instrumentation and is reasonably accurate."

THESE ARE strong comments by a member of the President's own party in the Senate. If a Republican had made them, they would have been characterized as just an anti-administration or anti-Kennedy view. But Sen. Russell is a man of independence and is respected in both parties. He has always taken a non-partisan position where the military security of the United States is at stake.

There has been a kind of smokescreen drawn to obscure the facts, due perhaps to policies of "manipulating" the news in and around the Pentagon.

Sen. Russell said the world "has accepted the fact that we have won a great diplomatic victory here, whether we have or not."

He added: "The Russians are just following their old policy. The Communists start out on a course of action that they know is wrong, and when you call their hand they say, "all right, we'll stop this if you'll give us something over here' that they know they have no right to whatever. And that is what they did to us in Cuba."

AS MATTERS stand now, the United States government has never followed up its protest against the Soviet Union for having put the missiles in Cuba in the first place.

Why was this threat of aggression ignored in the U. N.? There is a studied effort in administration circles to give the impression that "appeasement" has been discarded and that the United States has gotten tough with Khrushchev. The evidence, however, doesn't show it as yet. U.S. officials admit there are several thousand Russians in Cuba, along with some MIG-15 and MIG-21 fighter planes capable of carrying nuclear weapons.

The size-up that Sen. Russell has made could lead to a full investigation at the January session of Congress.

Adenauer's Leadership

By James Marlow

Retirement Of 'Der Alte' Poses Question

WASHINGTON

West Germany's Chancellor Adenauer is getting the same shove British Prime Minister Churchill got seven years ago: Out. The reason is the same: Too old.

None of the other old-timers who have been dominating world events in the 20th Century's middle years shows any signs of quitting voluntarily. None, however, is in his 80s, like Churchill and Adenauer.

In 1955, when Churchill was 81, some of the men closest to him told him he was too old to head the government any longer. They urged him to quit for the good of the country. He didn't want to go.

After Stalin's death in 1953 he dreamed of a summit meeting with the Russians. If there had been any change in the Kremlin, he thought, a long peace for Europe might be worked out. Pressure persisted. He quit in April 1955.

Then, just a few months later, there was a summit conference with his successor, Anthony Eden, taking part. Nothing much came of it. Churchill is 88 now.

Adenauer will be 87 in January. He's been the only chancellor West Germany has had since it was established in 1949. West Germany, like Britain when Churchill left, is enjoying its greatest prosperity.

In those 13 years Adenauer not only led West Germany into close alliance with its enemies of two world wars — the United States, Britain, France — but into a democratic society away from its ancient authoritarianism.

Like Churchill, Adenauer has been reluctant to go. Like Churchill, he still feels he has unfinished business. In his case it's tighter relations with France and cementing the Common Market, of which Germany is a part.

If there ever is a United States of Europe it will probably spring from those beginnings. Thus Adenauer has been a tremendous force.

Yet, in recent years the feeling has grown in Germany that anti-authoritarian Adenauer has himself become increasingly authoritarian. This feeling piled up and burst through in the German elections of September 1961.

His Christian Democratic Party failed to win a majority in Parliament. He had to seek the support of the Free Democrats, which meant a coalition government, to get himself chosen chancellor once more.

There was a price tag on this. The Free Democrats were willing to put up with him a while longer but not indefinitely. On Nov. 8, 1961 he gave a guarantee he would retire before his term ended in 1965.

But he didn't say exactly when. This became a sore point. The Free Democrats have just put the squeeze on him again. He let it be announced last Friday he'd leave in the fall of 1963.

His successor is expected to be Dr. Ludwig Erhard, minister of economics. He's expected to concentrate more on domestic problems, leaving the foreign ones to others.

Right here there's a difference between Britain without Churchill and Germany without Adenauer. Britain has had a long tradition of democracy and a tremendous sense of continuity in its leadership.

Churchill's going meant no basic changes in Britain. But Germany has had a democratic system only 13 years and, before that, a long history of authoritarianism, whether under the Nazis or an emperor.

Since West Germany's democratic roots, therefore, are recent, they are not so sure as Britain's. While Germany under Adenauer was both a friend and an ally, it may not remain that way under those coming after him.

War On Georgia Traps

By Barnett D. Laschever

ATLANTA

Only a few hours after my arrival in this burgeoning Southern capital I was asked a curious question during a radio interview: "What aspect of Georgia is of most interest to New Yorkers?"

Sad to say, I could only answer, "New Yorkers most want to know how they can drive through Georgia, en route to Florida destinations, without getting caught in a speed trap."

Question and answer were pertinent. I had flown to Georgia at the invitation of the State Department of Commerce to speak at the third annual Governor's Conference on Tourism. The meetings reflected a new and earnest interest in developing tourism in a state that has been regarded by most Northerners as merely a corridor.

THE SIGHT of all those Yankee dollars flowing by all these years has, however, proven to be more than the Georgians could stand. They hope to get across a new message to the Yankees: Georgia has much to offer the tourist, stop and dally a bit and enjoy life, Southern-style.

If the governor, members of his Department of Commerce and others in the vacation business are interested in pleasing the tourist, and making a buck or two in the process, other Georgians — a small albeit irritating bunch — have been separating Yankees from their dollars for several years via the unconscionable system of the speed trap.

At its worst, the speed trap is actually manipulated by small-town constables who switch traffic lights from green to red so that it is virtually impossible for a driver to stop. The car is then hailed and a bond, often as high as $35, demanded.

Virtually all motorists so stopped do a slow burn, but pay the bond rather than stick around several days and face a court hearing they know will result in conviction.

In its milder form the gimmick works like this: Unrealistic speed limits are placed at outskirts of undeveloped townships, and drivers who had been breezing along at 60 mph slow down, but not enough to escape the tentacles of the waiting peace officers.

They might just as well be called "piece" officers, because that's exactly what they are doing piecework. This then is the how and why of the speed trap. Local townships hire peace officers, pay them no salary, but guarantee a substantial percentage of all fines or forfeited bonds.

The situation has become so bad that the AAA, in routing drivers through Georgia, recommends detouring some towns, even though it adds as much as 50 miles to the trip.

On the state level, the Legislature last year passed a law restricting the use of electronic speed detection devices to the state police only. This is a first step toward eliminating the menace, but it doesn't stop peace officers from manipulating lights or from stopping cars after trailing them, and making a speeding accusation based on observation.

REALLY NEEDED are laws that ban the splitting of fees, fines and forfeited bonds with the officers, and insist instead that very small towns put their constables on salary or rely on county and state police for law enforcement.

Speaking at the tourism convention, Gov. S. Ernest Vandiver declared:

"Unless something is done now to eliminate speed traps, Georgia will always be a pass-through state, instead of a stay-and-visit state. I call on the people of Georgia's small towns to halt the speed traps and give Georgia back its good name. Speed traps must go."

At the last Toronto Exposition, the governor noted, Georgia's Department of Commerce had its first booth promoting the state's tourist charms, "but that instead of inquiries we received a flood of complaints about speed traps from irate Canadians."

Old, Old Story

Invasion is an old story in Assam, the state in northeast India that lies in the path of Chinese Communists.

Though frequently overrun by Moslems when the Mogul Empire controlled India, Assam never was completely subjugated.

In a passage especially pertinent today, a frustrated Mogul wrote:

"Whenever an invading army has entered their territories, the Assamese have sheltered themselves in strong posts, and have distressed the enemy by strategems, surprises, and alarms, and by cutting off their provisions . . . .In this manner, powerful and numerous armies have sunk in that whirlpool of destruction, and not a soul has escaped."

Assam, bordered by Burma, China, Bhutan and East Pakistan, is almost cut off from the main body of India. A narrow strip of land between Bhutan and East Pakistan connects the state with the rest of India.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Child Shouldn't Be Forced To Eat

Suppose your baby six months old doesn't want to take all the milk in his bottle. Suppose he doesn't want any of it. You may be tempted to push the nipple into his mouth, even if he offers strong resistance. By doing so you may get some or all the milk into him. But if you keep on at this over a number of days his resistance may increase and his enjoyment of food decline. As a result, he later may not always enjoy solid or semi-solid foods and your practice at trying to force him renders you more likely to keep on trying to do so.

Dr. Garry Meyers

Indeed, you could become an irritating, forcing machine in relation to his eating. In all such matters you tend to feel angry at his resistance, and he angry as he resists.

—:—

MOTHERS WRITE me of the little child who holds food in his mouth and of the child who closes his mouth tightly against the food about to be pushed into him.

Some mothers, set on getting food into the youngster but wishing not to arouse great resistance, invent all sorts of ways of outwitting him. Having found that he will relax his jaw when his attention is strongly diverted, the parent may have an accomplice do some monkey-shines or antics.

Then as the child watches and listens and drops his jaw, she quickly slips a morsel in between his teeth.

Once a mother told me that in her struggle to force food into her baby, 13 months of age, she accidentally knocked from the table a pan with a spoon in it. As this happened, the child dropped his lower jaw and she got "a big bite" of cereal into him.

This gave her an idea. She called her six-year-old daughter and had her pound the pan with a spoon, just as she was ready with a morsel. The mother said this "worked" very well for a few meals but lost its magic thereafter.

ALSO AN OCCASIONAL mother says her tot will open his mouth to let her feed him if he watches TV. One wrote of a child, two, who will feed himself while viewing TV but that it takes him almost an hour to finish his meal.

Beginning with the young baby, don't push the milk into him. If he shows no appetite for foods at a few feeding times, consult your physician.

As you introduce food from a spoon, go at it slowly and gently, offering on the tip of the spoon at first a very, very tiny portion. Continue to keep the portions small.

The moment the youngster offers marked resistance, try no more at this feeding. Offer in a slow, gentle way the same or another food at the next meal.

Sometimes the baby will close his mouth against a new and strange food, but by watching and proceeding gently, you may be able to win his acceptance. Be artistic, skillful. Just be sure not to arouse strong resistance in the youngster.

AS SOON AS your baby will pick up with his bare hand tiny bits of food before him, encourage him to do so. Hope that he will be feeding himself in this way around the time or even before he is a year old.

As soon as the tot can really feed himself, you should have no occasion to feed him and have no temptation to push food into him or try to force him to eat. Put your trust in helping him get hungry, knowing he will surely choose to eat when he does.

Heating Concern Offices Entered

Police today are continuing investigation of a burglary at the Robertson Heating Co., 312 W. 4th St., in which the intruder apparently left empty-handed.

The intruder cut a screen on a window on the northeast corner of the building to gain entry. The window apparently was unlocked previously, as there was no sign it had been forced, police said. The burglar left via a garage door on the W. 4th St. side of the building, which was standing open approximately 18 inches, officers said. The entry was reported at 8:44 a. m. Saturday.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Irene Baumgarner, 1135 Ohio Ave., told police Saturday afternoon a battery was stolen from her auto Tuesday between 3 and 11 p. m. while it was parked on a lot at City Hospital.

Samuel Howell, 603 Avondale St., told police Friday at 5 p. m. a $20 bill was stolen from him while he was in the Alley Bar in Diamond Alley.

Pressure Getting Him Oh, No, Not Governor

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — It was during a hectic session of the Maryland General Assembly.

Gov. J. Millard Tawes had just dispatched another delegation when an observor suggested that legislative pressures might be getting on his nerves.

"Who me?" asked the governor. "No, sir. Not me. Not getting on my nerves."

Whereupon, he picked up his cigar and stuck the ash end in his mouth. Fortunately, the cigar had gone out while the delegation chatted.

37th Wages 'War' On Map

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The war is over.

The battle fields were paper and the weapons pencils, but the conditions under which Ohio's 37th Infantry Division staged a map maneuver here Saturday and Sunday were as realistic as can be obtained without the real things.

More than 900 officers and men from all over the state took part in the maneuver which went on all night at three National Guard installations here.

"The exercise went off a lot better than any of us had expected," was the word from Maj. Gen. Loren G. Windom, 37th Division commander. "This was not a test, but we came here to learn," he said.

The division was divided into two groups. The "Red" was commanded by Brig. Gen. Wilbur Fricke of Waynesburg and the "Blue" was led by Brig. Gen. Herbert B. Egon of Columbus.

"Actually we did not determine a definite winner," explained Brig. Gen. Oliver H. Gibson, assistant Ohio adjutant general who directed the umpires. "The Red division achieved the goal. The Blues made a good penetration, but the Reds had sealed them off when the exercise ended."

The goal was the town of Vinkovic in Yugoslavia. The two groups started 160 miles apart. Both were to attempt to take the town.

The purpose of the 24-hour project, believed to have been the first of its type conducted by a reserve component division, was to enable division officers to learn the effects of modern weapons upon battle.

37th Wages 'War' On Map

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The war is over.

The battle fields were paper and the weapons pencils, but the conditions under which Ohio's 37th Infantry Division staged a map maneuver here Saturday and Sunday were as realistic as can be obtained without the real things.

More than 900 officers and men from all over the state took part in the maneuver which went on all night at three National Guard installations here.

"The exercise went off a lot better than any of us had expected," was the word from Maj. Gen. Loren G. Windom, 37th Division commander. "This was not a test, but we came here to learn," he said.

The division was divided into two groups. The "Red" was commanded by Brig. Gen. Wilbur Fricke of Waynesburg and the "Blue" was led by Brig. Gen. Herbert B. Egon of Columbus.

"Actually we did not determine a definite winner," explained Brig. Gen. Oliver H. Gibson, assistant Ohio adjutant general who directed the umpires. "The Red division achieved the goal. The Blues made a good penetration, but the Reds had sealed them off when the exercise ended."

The goal was the town of Vinkovic in Yugoslavia. The two groups started 160 miles apart. Both were to attempt to take the town.

The purpose of the 24-hour project, believed to have been the first of its type conducted by a reserve component division, was to enable division officers to learn the effects of modern weapons upon battle.

Heating Concern Offices Entered

Police today are continuing investigation of a burglary at the Robertson Heating Co., 312 W. 4th St., in which the intruder apparently left empty-handed.

The intruder cut a screen on a window on the northeast corner of the building to gain entry. The window apparently was unlocked previously, as there was no sign it had been forced, police said. The burglar left via a garage door on the W. 4th St. side of the building, which was standing open approximately 18 inches, officers said. The entry was reported at 8:44 a. m. Saturday.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Irene Baumgarner, 1135 Ohio Ave., told police Saturday afternoon a battery was stolen from her auto Tuesday between 3 and 11 p. m. while it was parked on a lot at City Hospital.

Samuel Howell, 603 Avondale St., told police Friday at 5 p. m. a $20 bill was stolen from him while he was in the Alley Bar in Diamond Alley.

Pressure Getting Him Oh. No, Not Governor

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — It was during a hectic session of the Maryland General Assembly.

Gov. J. Millard Tawes had just dispatched another delegation when an observor suggested that legislative pressures might be getting on his nerves.

"Who me?" asked the governor. "No, sir. Not me. Not getting on my nerves."

Whereupon, he picked up his cigar and stuck the ash end in his mouth. Fortunately, the cigar had gone out while the delegation chatted.

John B. Martin, Michigan national committeeman, predicted in a separate interview there will be no move to push Romney into the presidential picture until after the new governor has had a year or so to get squared around in a now unfamiliar office and to grapple with state problems.

There has been some talk, too, of Gov.-elect William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania as a possible contender for the GOP nomination in 1964.

Whitehill said he believes the loss may be covered partly by insurance.

it into drifts that clogged many rural roads and forced most district school systems to suspend classes Friday.

Weary highway crews, who worked over the weekend to remove snow that fell last week, were faced with the prospect of long hours again this afternoon and tonight.

Before the new snow squalls began before dawn today, most district highways were in comparatively good condition. The storm was intermittent this morning — heavy squalls alternating with mild flurries.

In a five - day forecast, the Ohio weatherman said the state is in for cold, wintry weather with frequent snow flurries for the remainder of the week, except for a rief return to normal temperatures about Friday.

The overnight low in downtown East Liverpool was 17. Suburban areas recorded 10-degree temperatures.

In the next five days, temperatures will average 11-13 degrees below normal. The normal high is 37-39 and the normal low is 21-26, the forecaster said.

Precipitation will average about three - tenths of an inch of melted snow, but there frequently will be locally heavier amounts, the weatherman said.

City street crews resumed cindering streets this morning after the overnight low temperatures turned Sunday's thaw into ice in many places.

Asst. Street Supt. Ed Bowersock said crews were working in the outlying areas of East End, Beechwood, North Side, Pleasant Heights and other residential areas.

Dirt streets still are difficult to negotiate, Bowersock said, because of the new freeze.

The department halted work at noon Saturday after working almost around the clock since the storm struck Thursday. However, the weary workers received only one call Sunday concerning streets in Gardendale, Bowercock said.

County highways all are open today, with trucks and crews still working, but some of the routes are "just passable," according to John (Dick) Neill, county superintendent.

The Lisbon State Highway Patrol said the main highways are clear while the secondary roads are slippery in spots. Today's snow was blowing off.

The Wintersville State Highway Patrol near Steubenville said the highways in its district still are slippery in spots. No accidents were reported Saturday or Sunday.

Crews from the Pughtown Garage of the West Virginia State Road Commission worked throughout the weekend and finally opened all secondary roads in Hancock County for one-way traffic.

Julian Wilson, supervisor, said primary roads now are clear of drifts, but motorists are advised to use chains.

Heavy equipment used in clearing snow has been on the job since Thursday's storm. Wilson said a bulldozer cleared away a snow drift an estimated 18 feet deep on Tope Hill Rd. below New Cumberland.

Wife, Officer Injured

Husband Gets $125 Fine In Domestic Disturbance

A city husband was fined a total of $125 and costs today in Municipal Court following a domestic disturbance Saturday night in which he assaulted his wife and a struggle with two police officers, one of whom also was injured.

Expressing the hope the fines cannot be paid, Judge Samuel M. Chertoff ordered Leroy Dunham, 676 Lincoln Ave., to pay $100 and costs on an assault and battery charge filed by his wife, Mrs. Doris Dunham, 35, and $25 and costs on an intoxication charge preferred by Patrolman L. E. Richard.

Mrs. Dunham was treated at City Hospital Saturday night for abrasions of the forehead, eyes, nose, lips and neck while Patrolman Kenneth E. Mooney, 33, received treatment for a contusion of the left arm.

Mrs. Dunham testifed briefly concerning the intoxication charge to which her husband entered a not guilty plea. Her left eye virtually was closed and there were bruises under both eyes. Patrolman Richard also testified on Dunham's condition.

Mrs. Dunham told the judge tearfully she was asleep when her husband returned home around 8:30 p. m. Saturday.

She said she "didn't get a chance to say much of anything" when her husband started striking her.

Taking the stand in his own defense, Dunham said his wife, to whom he was remarried in September, won't answer him half the time.

"I'm treated like a boarder," he said.

"I'm very incensed that you would treat a woman this way; you should be ashamed of yourself," Judge Chertoff told Dunham.

"Unfortunately, I can't send you to jail. If I had the authority, I would do so but the maximum penalty for assault and battery is $100 fine. I hope you can't pay it so you'll serve about 35 days in jail."

Dunham then was fined $25 and costs on the intoxication charge. He had posted a $32.50 bond for the hearing.

He was jailed until the fine and costs on the assault charge are paid.

Prior to the hearing, Patrolman Richard said he and Officer Mooney were attempting to put Dunham in the cellblock Saturday night when Mooney slipped and fell on the heavy ring of keys, injuring his left arm. Richard said his hand also was hurt but he was not treated.

2 Cases Resume In Lisbon Courts

LISBON — Two trials delayed by last week's snowstorm and accidental injury of a court reporter got underway today in Common Pleas Courts and testimony is expected to be completed this afternoon.

Judges Joel H. Sharp and Raymond S. Buzzard are presiding.

A civil action in which Gilbert Berman of W. 9th St., seeks $10,000 in damages from John Sikora of Poland, contractor who installed a new Carpenters Run trunk line sewer in West End, had been postponed Thursday until today.

Judge Buzzard ordered the case continued after Mrs. Lillian Rogers, court stenographer, was injured in a fall Wednesday night.

A civil action filed by the Kensington Supply Co. against Edwin Jarrett of Hanoverton R. D. 1 was postponed Friday until today because snow made it impossible for two jurors to report for duty.

fined $200 for possession of numbers slips and $200 for possession of a punchboard.

Chuck's Grill, Charles L. Nagy, owner, fined $50 for possession of whisky, and Garnet M. Swisher, fined $50 for sale of whisky.

Green Mill Restaurant, Ross Fields, fined $50 for possession of whisky and Ann Steifler, fined $50 for sale of whisky.

After a busy afternoon, State Police returned to the 3000 block of Main St. to raid the D. & M. Club in the downstairs of the building which houses the SAC establishment on the upper floors.

Dan Baltich and Mike Hraboski were cited on charges of possession of whisky and each posted $55.50 bond for hearings Saturday before Squire Bellanco.

State Police said the gambing equipment seized was hauled away in a large moving van. Besides equipment used in horse books operations, officers also impounded racing forms, tables and 50 chairs at the SAC establishment.

State Police had obtained search and seizure warrants before pulling the raids, authorizing them to enter the establishments to investigate information that illegal activities were being operated.

$200 More Required In Yule Gift Campaign

LISBON — A fund to secure Christmas gifts for children under the care of the County Welfare Department is about $200 short of the goal of $1,500, according to Robert Bycroft, county welfare director.

Bycroft said individuals and organizations should make their contributions as soon as possible so the gifts can be purchased by Saturday.

Army's Missile Fails To Hit Assigned Mark

POINT MUGU, Calif. (AP)—The Army says a Nike-Zeus antimissile missile had trouble in its third stage during a test firing and fell into the Pacific.

A spokesman said the missile accepted and executed control commands, and most of the test objectives were met, but the missile fell short of its mark.

The test was terminated by an automatic device. It did not blow up.

6 Youths Hurt In Auto Crash

Six Beaver County young people are in "fair" condition at City Hospital with injuries suffered when their car went out of control in snow and hit a bridge abutment early today on Route 30, about a mile east of the Pennsylvania - West Virginia state line.

William Branowitzer, 19, of Ambridge, the driver, sufferd contusions of the chest. The injured passengers include three from Aliquippa—Miss Cay Morgan, 18, multiple abrasions of the face; Miss Cleta Bair, 18, lacerations of the nose, and Patricia Maruskin, 17, lacerations of the head and a possible concussion.

The other passengers hurt were David Hogue, 18, of Monaca R. D. 1, laceration of the nose, and Michael Venanzio Jr., 20, of Ambridge, a fractured left shoulder.

The accident occurred at 12:10 a. m. on a curve at the bottom of Shane's Bend, the scene of numerous accidents in the past. Several weeks ago, the same bridge was hit in another one-car accident.

The Carnegie barracks of the Pennsylvania State police estimated $1,000 damage to the 1957 auto.

New Look, New Name Given To Policemen

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Policemen on Fourth Street, in the heart of Louisville, have a new look — and some of them even have a new name, "community-relations officers."

The policemen wear white hats, white Sam Browne belts, white gloves and, in case of rain, white raincoats. Chief William Bindner said the accessories will make them more visible to pedestrians and drivers on the crowded street.

The new name was given to corner patrolmen by Mayor William Cowger, who said they may have booths on their corners in the future where they can give motorists and tourists information during slack periods.

Tiger From Zoo No Mascot For 'Tigers'

MEMPHIS (AP) — The idea of borrowing a zoo tiger as a mascot for the Memphis State football Tigers got nowhere with zoo director Raymond Gray.

First of all, said Gray, his tigers are inclined to eat people. And they are too old to be trained out of this undesirable characteristic.

Secondly, Gray holds that a tiger must be reared as a mascot from the kitten stage. Otherwise, the beast tends to be upset by the crowd's uproar and cowers in a corner of his cage.

"This would hardly be the impression the school would like in its mascot," said Gray, in rejecting a proposal by an MSU booster group.

Project Ends At Reservoir

Installation of a new surface on the walls of the small basin at the Thompson Ave. reservoir has been completed, Donald T. Duke, water department superintendent, announced today.

Duke said three laborers, hired to aid in the project started last May, have been laid off with completion of the work.

Although it started in May, the job was delayed several times because of other work, including bad water breaks on Bradshaw Ave. and the River Rd., the superintendent said.

The only work remaining is to remove sand from the bottom of the basin and it then will be refilled, Duke said.

A total of 5,780 100-pound bags of concrete were used to resurface the walls, Duke said. That is 289 tons.

The cement, which is applied by air, is forced onto the walls through a "gun", Duke said, explaining the cement is forced through a one - inch hose by air pressure with a slight amount of water added at the nozzle.

Registration Change Made At OSU Nursery

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State University's popular nursery school for 3 and 4-year-olds, which has a waiting list of 200, used to accept applications before the child was born.

But it doesn't any more, says Dr. Helene Heye, chairman of the division of family and child development in the School of Home Economics.

She says: "Now we insist that he or she has arrived before we fill out a registration card. . .so we know whether to use a pink or blue one, for one thing."

Wife, Officer Injured

Husband Gets $125 Fine In Domestic Disturbance

A city husband was fined a total of $125 and costs today in Municipal Court following a domestic disturbance Saturday night in which he assaulted his wife and a struggle with two police officers, one of whom also was injured.

Expressing the hope the fines cannot be paid, Judge Samuel M. Chertoff ordered Leroy Dunham, 676 Lincoln Ave., to pay $100 and costs on an assault and battery charge filed by his wife, Mrs. Doris Dunham, 35, and $25 and costs on an intoxication charge preferred by Patrolman L. E. Richard.

Mrs. Dunham was treated at City Hospital Saturday night for abrasions of the forehead, eyes, nose, lips and neck while Patrolman Kenneth E. Mooney, 33, received treatment for a contusion of the left arm.

Mrs. Dunham testifed briefly concerning the intoxication charge to which her husband entered a not guilty plea. Her left eye virtually was closed and there were bruises under both eyes. Patrolman Richard also testified on Dunham's condition.

Mrs. Dunham told the judge tearfully she was asleep when her husband returned home around 8:30 p. m. Saturday.

She said she "didn't get a chance to say much of anything" when her husband started striking her.

Taking the stand in his own defense, Dunham said his wife, to whom he was remarried in September, won't answer him half the time.

"I'm treated like a boarder," he said.

"I'm very incensed that you would treat a woman this way; you should be ashamed of yourself," Judge Chertoff told Dunham.

"Unfortunately, I can't send you to jail. If I had the authority, I would do so but the maximum penalty for assault and battery is $100 fine. I hope you can't pay it so you'll serve about 35 days in jail."

Dunham then was fined $25 and costs on the intoxication charge. He had posted a $32.50 bond for the hearing.

He was jailed until the fine and costs on the assault charge are paid.

Prior to the hearing, Patrolman Richard said he and Officer Mooney were attempting to put Dunham in the cellblock Saturday night when Mooney slipped and fell on the heavy ring of keys, injuring his left arm. Richard said his hand also was hurt but he was not treated.

2 Cases Resume In Lisbon Courts

LISBON — Two trials delayed by last week's snowstorm and accidental injury of a court reporter got underway today in Common Pleas Courts and testimony is expected to be completed this afternoon.

Judges Joel H. Sharp and Raymond S. Buzzard are presiding.

A civil action in which Gilbert Berman of W. 9th St., seeks $10,000 in damages from John Sikora of Poland, contractor who installed a new Carpenters Run trunk line sewer in West End, had been postponed Thursday until today.

Judge Buzzard ordered the case continued after Mrs. Lillian Rogers, court stenographer, was injured in a fall Wednesday night.

A civil action filed by the Kensington Supply Co. against Edwin Jarrett of Hanoverton R. D. 1 was postponed Friday until today because snow made it impossible for two jurors to report for duty.

Green Mill Restaurant, Ross Fields, fined $50 for possession of whisky and Ann Steifler, fined $50 for sale of whisky.

After a busy afternoon, State Police returned to the 3000 block of Main St. to raid the D. & M. Club in the downstairs of the building which houses the SAC establishment on the upper floors.

Dan Baltich and Mike Hraboski were cited on charges of possession of whisky and each posted $55.50 bond for hearings Saturday before Squire Bellanco.

State Police said the gambing equipment seized was hauled away in a large moving van. Besides equipment used in horse books operations, officers also impounded racing forms, tables and 50 chairs at the SAC establishment.

State Police had obtained search and seizure warrants before pulling the raids, authorizing them to enter the establishments to investigate information that illegal activities were being operated.

Cadillac

YOUNGEST CADILLAC IN SIXTY-ONE YEARS!

Take a good look at a new 1963 Cadillac and you'll see what we're talking about.

For this one has a freshness . . . a brightness . . . a spirit . . . a flair that you've never seen before in a Cadillac car.

It's the look of youth—and it's written in every clean, crisp line . . . and mirrored in every lithe, nimble move the car makes.

And so it is not surprising that this beautiful new Cadillac is adding a host of youthful admirers to the ranks of its enthusiasts.

Nor is it remarkable that so many younger motorists can be seen this year at its wheel.

In fact, motorists of all ages have taken this Cadillac to their hearts as never before. The reception that has been accorded this new "car of cars"—whether measured by the praise of its followers or the number of its owners—is simply without precedent.

Why not visit your authorized Cadillac dealer soon—and see for yourself what the talk is all about?

Young in fact or young at heart—we know you'll want to make it yours!

Awards Due 2 Ohio Firms For Exports

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Production Machinery Corp. of Mentor and the Ajax Magnethermic Corp. of Youngstown will receive the "E" award for excellence in exporting at a ceremony here Tuesday.

Citations and blue and white "E" pennants will be presented to executives of the two firms at a luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce. The presentations will be made by John S. Stillman, deputy to Under Secretary of Commerce Edward Gudeman.

The "E" pennant, first raised over America's plants during World War II as a symbol pf production excellence, now signifies outstanding achievement in increasing sales of American goods and services in overseas markets.

The system of honoring business and other organizations for expert achievement was revived by President Kennedy last April to encourage increased U.S. dollar earnings abroad.

Production Machinery Corp. was started six years ago to engineer and manufacture machinery to meet production needs, especially in the processing of flat - rolled metals. Its overseas sales this year are running at about one-third of its total.

The Youngstown firm is a leading manufacturer of induction heating and melting equipment used in metalworking industries. The company sold about 18 per cent of its products overseas last year.

Other Ohio winners of the "E" award include Alliance Machine Co., Alliance; Lempco International, Inc., Bedford; Ranco, Inc., Columbus; Sanderson Cyclone Drill Co., Orrville, and Steel Magazine, published by the Penton Publishing Co. in Cleveland.

In the 1960 census of business Ohio ranked fourth among the states in exports with the sale of $1.3 billion worth of manufactured products overseas.

Samis Warns Of U.S. Move In Power Field

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—W. H. Samis, president of Ohio Edison Co., speaking today before the Springfield Rotary Club, warned of possible encroachment of the federal government into the electric power industry.

In remarks prepared for delivery, Samis asserted:

The U. S. Chamber of Commerce, in one of its communications, states that it feels that the public awareness of the plans for development of a federal power monopoly cannot be described as widespread. In fact, says the Chamber, there is reason to believe that the public's understanding of what is really involved in various federal power proposals is almost nil."

But he says that if no one is found to replace him in the pulpit he assumed 32 years ago, he will serve "until the right type of minister is found."

Detective Supt. George Smith, chief spy catcher of Britain's Scotland Yard, has announced his retirement in London after 36 years with the force. His most recent arrest was of the British Admiralty headquarters clerk, William John Vassall, who spied for the Soviet Union.

King Saud, 60-year-old monarch of Saudi Arabia, says his leg pains are improving to the point that he hopes to return home from Switzerland soon, according to Mecca radio reports heard in Damascus. He flew to Lausanne a week ago for treatment.

Farm Bureau Hits Kennedy Tax Program

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — President Charles B. Shuman of the American Farm Bureau Federation called today for defeat of proposed reductions in federal income taxes unless matched by cuts in government spending.

Shuman said in a speech prepared for the opening session of the federation's four-day annual convention that lowering of these taxes without corresponding savings in expenditures would constitute fiscal irresponsibility.

The farm leader's remarks raised the prospect that any proposal of the Kennedy administration to reduce taxes next year would face broad agricultural opposition unless the federal budget is balanced.

At its recent convention at Fort Wayne, Ind., the National Grange opposed tax reductions accompanied by deficit spending.

The Kennedy administration has been studying proposals to lower income taxes to help spur economic growth and reduce unemployment.

Shuman's tax statement was outlined in a convention talk that called upon Americans—farmers as well as nonfarmers—to make 1963 a year in which the wings of big government are clipped.

He said Congress should be pressed to tell the federal government to leave to states, counties and individuals the responsibility for solving education, medical aid and municipal problems.

The convention appeared to be heading for an almost unanimous approval of resolutions calling for less government in agriculture. Shuman told a news conference that a majority of the nation's farmers oppose Kennedy administration policies.

"Total national income of the people of the United States is at a very high level," he said. "We can afford to pay our way as we go. Further deficit spending by our government may generate disastrous inflation and jeopardize the confidence which other nations have in our fiscal responsibility."

As to federal farm programs, Shuman said that after 30 years of "fruitless and costly experiments, farmers generally accept the fact that there will never be a 'workable' government program to control production and fix prices of agricultural products."

Snow Curbs Ohio's Toll On Weekend

Traffic	1
Fire	1
Miscellaneous	1
Total	3

By The Associated Press

Ohio's ice and snow - covered highways proved one thing this weekend—If motorists slow up and become a little more cautious Ohio's traffic death toll almost will disappear.

Compared with the 30 persons killed in traffic accidents during a weekend in February or 24 and 23, on two weekends in May, the highway death toll for the past 54-hour period seems a little unbelieveable—one.

The lone traffic death reported to the Associated Press occurred Sunday near Columbus. Killed was Don Gilbert Cameron, 53, of Grandview, a Columbus suburb. His car skidded off Ohio 161 and rolled over.

Besides the traffic death, one person died in a fire and a 13-year-old Cincinnati youth was hanged accidentally.

The fire death occurred Friday night in the Geauga County village of Bainbridge. Killed was 4-year-old Katie DeHammel. The fire followed an explosion in the child's home.

Michael Link was hanged while playing in a neighbor's yard. A rope hanging from a tree twisted around the youth's neck.

The convention appeared to be heading for an almost unanimous approval of resolutions calling for less government in agriculture. Shuman told a news conference that a majority of the nation's farmers oppose Kennedy administration policies.

"Total national income of the people of the United States is at a very high level," he said. "We can afford to pay our way as we go. Further deficit spending by our government may generate disastrous inflation and jeopardize the confidence which other nations have in our fiscal responsibility."

As to federal farm programs, Shuman said that after 30 years of "fruitless and costly experiments, farmers generally accept the fact that there will never be a 'workable' government program to control production and fix prices of agricultural products."

Snow Curbs Ohio's Toll On Weekend

Traffic	1
Fire	1
Miscellaneous	1
Total	3

By The Associated Press

Ohio's ice and snow - covered highways proved one thing this weekend—If motorists slow up and become a little more cautious Ohio's traffic death toll almost will disappear.

Compared with the 30 persons killed in traffic accidents during a weekend in February or 24 and 23, on two weekends in May, the highway death toll for the past 54-hour period seems a little unbelieveable—one.

The lone traffic death reported to the Associated Press occurred Sunday near Columbus. Killed was Don Gilbert Cameron, 53, of Grandview, a Columbus suburb. His car skidded off Ohio 161 and rolled over.

Besides the traffic death, one person died in a fire and a 13-year-old Cincinnati youth was hanged accidentally.

The fire death occurred Friday night in the Geauga County village of Bainbridge. Killed was 4-year-old Katie DeHammel. The fire followed an explosion in the child's home.

Michael Link was hanged while playing in a neighbor's yard. A rope hanging from a tree twisted around the youth's neck.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: The most time-saving and convenient bottle in my kitchen is a plastic squeeze bottle filled with liquid cooking oil! It has a screw top and a plastic tape. I keep this near the stove and find just one or two squeezes oils lightly or heavily. It is wonderful for the hot cake griddle, egg pan, broiling pans, etc.

This saves time getting out the large bottle. It also saves oils and cooking fats as this way one seldom puts too much on. A figure "8" sweep will spread evenly from the heat and no paper towel is needed.

The second handiest tool I have found on my own is a regular "whitewash" or calsomine brush to be used as a dust brush or regular whisk brush. This cheap paint brush is soft but is thick, and gets up spills or any trash for a quick clean-up. It also gets in corners and does not leave broken straws to pick up. I painted the handle of mine to match my dustpan.

MRS. WILLIAM ROSSMAN.

DEAR HELOISE: I rinse my baby's plastic panties in plain white vinegar. I use this in the first rinse water. I use about one cup of vinegar to a basin of water and it keeps the plastic baby panties soft. It will also soften plastic bibs which have hardened.

K. PHILLIPS.

DEAR HELOISE: I have always had a difficult time to get mirrors and windows to shine glowingly . . .

A niece visited me recently and told me to use two heaping tablespoons of plain, old cornstarch in a basin of water and wash my windows. Polish as usual. Even in the sun my windows sparkle. Now for the first time I can say that I enjoy washing windows.

HELEN REICHART.

-:-

DEAR HELOISE: Advise the girls to keep their sewing machines oiled. Mine just stopped today! The repairman came, applied some oil, and it works fine now. Could save others a service call.

Directions are in each booklet that comes with your machine.

MRS. D. R.

DEAR HELOISE: I bought a small sponge and stapled it to the end of my yard stick. (One could use tacks if they did not have a stapler.)

This reaches under and in back of my refrigerator and all of the low furniture and so forth. Cleans without moving the heavy appliance.

Elyria Man Held In 'Scare' Death By Shotgun Blast

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP)—George S. Haynes, 21, told sheriff's investigators he fired a shotgun blast through the window just to frighten Cecil Barley.

Barley's wife, Susan, 28, mother of two, was killed almost instantly by the blast Sunday.

Lorain County Deputy Michael Ondreyco said Haynes charged that Barley had assaulted him and took $200 after the two had been out on an all-night drinking bout. Ondreyco said Haynes won the $200 in a crap game in which Barley lost all his money.

After having the money taken from him, Haynes was quoted as saying, he went home, got a shotgun and went to the Barley residence just outside South Amherst. Mrs. Barley refused to let him in to see her husband.

Haynes then went into the yard and fired the shotgun through the bedroom window, Ondreyco reported.

The population of Red China is believed to have topped 700 million.

Youth Group Session Hears Guest Speaker

Forty attended a rally of the Columbiana County Youth for Christ organization Saturday night at the YMCA.

The Rev. Thomas Clyde, pastor of the Calcutta United Presbyterian Church, presided. The Rev. Floyd Hazen of Ellwood City, director of the Pine Valley Bible Conference of Western Pennsylvania, spoke on "The Gift of Christmas."

A feature of the rally was a Bible quiz on the first chapters of Hebrews and Mark. The winners were Sherry Johnson of East Liverpool and Robbie Morris of Calcutta.

The next rally will be Jan. 12 at the same place. A film will be screened.

Youth Rally Canceled

LISBON — Because of adverse weather, a District 7 Christian Youth Fellowship rally set Sunday in the First Christian Church was canceled. Edgar Gooseman of Alliance, district CYF counselor, said the rally was called off because road conditions made traveling hazardous.

New Walkout Hits Papers At Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) — Although the Teamsters Union has decided to end its strike against Cleveland daily newspapers, striking Newspaper Guild members kept the two newspapers shut down today.

In membership meetings Sunday, editorial and business employes of the morning Plain Dealer and the afternoon Press and News voted to reaffirm their earlier stand not to return to work without a contract, a Guild spokesman reported.

That action killed efforts of the Plain Dealer management to resume publication today.

The Guild spokesman said members of the Press unit balloted 172 to 60 to continue the strike, while a standing vote at the Plain Dealer unit was overwhelmingly opposed to returning to work.

The strike began the night of Nov. 29.

Last Friday a civic committee, whose members included Mayor Ralph S. Locher, three judges and three clergymen, asked the strikers to return to work until after the holidays and to continue negotiations. The plea was made on the basis of community need.

Members of Teamsters Local 473, representing delivery drivers, voted to heed the plea and return to work. The Plain Dealer announced it would try to publish a Monday morning edition. Those plans were abandoned when the Guild rejected the plea.

Thomas V. H. Vail, vice president of the Forest City Publishing Co., which publishes the Plain Dealer, said the management was "extremely disappointed" that the Guild turned down "the invitation of a committee of prominent citizens to go back to work and to accept a cooling off period during which we would work to resolve our differences."

Noting that the Guild was now "the only union on strike against the newspapers," Vail said the Plain Dealer had made every preparation to resume publication but had no choice other than to cancel those plans.

Guild - management negotiations, recessed after a meeting Friday were to resume today at 4:30 p.m.

Negotiations with the Teamsters Union are in recess subject to call from a federal mediator. The Teamsters have held no talks since early last week.

Also scheduled today was a meeting of the civil committee.

Meanwhile a spokesman for craft unions involved in negotiations with the publishers said the Cleveland Federation of Labor will be asked to meet with the civic committee to present the union's case.

Contracts of six of the 12 unions representing newspaper employes have expired, but only two unions struck.

Major issues in the Guild dispute include job security, union security and wages. A Teamsters spokesman has said working conditions and wages are at issue in that dispute.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I am a school teacher whose major problem is that I am "over-loved" by 33 6-year-olds.

I realize children need praise for work well done. So, at the beginning of the semester I started to give hugs and kisses for good pronunciation, good drawing and good behavior. I found it worked wonders.

But now the reward system is getting out of hand. The children constantly are clamoring for hugs and kisses. No sooner does one get off my lap when another one is there.

How can I put an end to this without making the children feel that I am rejecting them? Please don't tell me I shouldn't have started it. I know now. Just tell me what to do.—MISS LOVEY-DOVEY.

Dear Lovey: It's sad that children should be so hungry for hugs and kisses that they have to get them from the teacher. And what's the matter with the teacher that she has to get hugs and kisses from her 6-year-old pupils?

Reduce the mushing in class. Set the standards higher and abolish the kisses. Offer, instead, a pat on the head. And next year, when you get a new class, for heaven's sake keep the kids off your lap and give them gold stars.

Wistful Widow

Dear Ann: I've been a widow for five years. When my husband died I never dreamed I ever could be interested in a man again. But the wounds have healed.

I am 48 years old and look every day of it. My figure is trim and with the help of a beautician I've kept the gray out of my hair. But it's the little pouches under my eyes and my sagging jowls that give me away. If I had a little surgery I would look 10 years younger.

When I see the attractive divorcees who have youth and beauty on their side I realize the competition is razor sharp. The woman who looks 38 is sure to get more chances than the woman who looks 48. Be realistic, Ann, do I see the plastic surgeon or not?—GIRL SCOUT.

Dear Girl: The man who is interested in worthwhile human literature will read between the lines.

Have the surgery if you think it will lift your spirits, but don't expect it automatically to produce marriage proposals. And, most important, the man who would be attracted to a woman because she looks a few years younger is no red-hot bargain.

Bracing Experience

Dear Ann: I am a 13-year-old girl who has a nice face but my teeth are very crooked. My mother took me to the dentist and he said if I started to wear braces on my teeth now they might be straight by the time I am 17.

I hate to think of wearing braces during the four most important years of my whole life. My crooked teeth are not as noticeable as those ugly braces would be.

A couple of my girl friends wear braces and they just hate them. Also there is this constant running to the dentist's office. It seems like something always is falling off or coming loose, which means extra trips.

Please tell me what to do, Ann. Some days I think I should go ahead and do it and other days I am against the idea. I need your advice. — A QUESTION WITH A BITE.

Dear Bite: Get those braces on immediately, Doll, and be darned grateful that your teeth CAN be straightened and that your folks have the money to spend on the project.

You'll have a smile like a bird-cage for a few years — so what? By the time you're a high school senior you'll be in great shape and I can promise that you'll be awfully glad you had those braces put on.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Guffey suffered second - degree burns on his hands when he pulled three tanks of propane gas from the trailer.

It took firemen 2½ hours to extinguish the blaze. Traffic on one lane of the snow-clogged highway was tied up for five hours. The loss was estimated at $12,000.

Survey Finds Business Mood Called 'Unhurried'

By DARDEN CHAMBLISS
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The phrase "It's A Wonderful World" is printed on the ties an Atlanta bank president wears.

And the banker, Mills B. Lane of Citizens and Southern National Bank, soon has a visitor believing it is.

In fact, everyone in his bustling southern capital seems to bubble with enthusiasm.

But the feeling in Atlanta as it happens, is not at all typical of business sentiment across the nation.

Summing up majority opinion, one Southwest banker described the current business scene as an "unhurried economy."

A sampling of businessmen and economists in different cities discloses few as satisfied with the current economic situation as Atlanta's Mills Lane. But the same interviews also found only a few taking a violently opposite view.

By far the majority see the American economy as going neither sharply up nor sharply down in the near future.

They envision several years of sputtering economic growth; unemployment staying about where it is, prices and wages fairly stable and profits tight.

And maybe, some say, this isn't so bad.

Several businessmen, however, joined in the doubts expressed by R. G. Follis, board chairman of Standard Oil of California.

"I just wonder if we can continue very vigorous very long," he said, "if we keep putting such a small percentage into capital growth. It's way below what the other industrial countries are doing."

Karl Brandt, who was on former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's council of economic advisers and who now heads the Food Research Institute at Stanford University, says not going up means going down.

On the other end of the opinion spectrum from the gloomy ones are those who forecast of a giant upsurge in the economy.

But like those predicting bad times, they seem to be in the minority. Their chief difference from the majority things-on-a-plateau opinion is in their estimate how strong certain economic stimulants will be.

Bill Chartner of the Stanford Research Institute points to the maturity in the next few years of the postwar baby boom.

"This is a generation that's used to living pretty good, and they'll be buying a lot," he says.

Still others see the growing economic power of once-depressed minority groups as an important economic stimulant.

And many view the future enthusiastically because of the prospects of freer trade raised by the Trade Expansion Act of 1962 and the European Common Market.

Enlarging the free world into one pulsating trade area, says J. Paul Austin, president of Coca-Cola "could mean all our gross national products increasing 5, 6 or 7 per cent a year.

"It is easy to imagine a stage of prosperity nobody ever thought about before."

Charles Boso Elected President Of Local 9

Charles Boso of Shadyside Ave. was named president of Local Union 9 of the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters at the annual election Friday night in the former union headquarters building on W. 6th St.

Boso, who will be obligated at the Jan. 4 meeting along with other officers, succeeds Edward Cranston.

It marks the second presidency to which Boso was named in a week. He was elected head of the East Liverpool Area Men's Republican Club Tuesday.

The other new union officers are Floyd Jividen, vice president; Albert Hanna, guard; R. H. Davis, inspector, and Arthur Parrish, three - year trustee.

Returned for new terms were James Norris, financial secretary; Charles Larcombe, recording secretary, and William Stover, statistician.

New Yorkers Face Lengthy News Famine

NEW YORK (AP)—This city of eight million went into its second straight day without newspapers today, and hope was dim for an early end to the printers' strike that stopped the presses at all nine major metropolitan dailies.

Both sides openly predicted a long newspaper famine as they prepared to resume negotiations.

New York Typographical Union No. 6, AFL-CIO, struck the New York Times, Daily News, Journal-American and World-Telegram & Sun at 2 a.m. Saturday in a contract dispute.

The Herald Tribune, Daily Mirror, Post, Long Island Star-Journal and the Long Island Press then suspended publication voluntarily. The Press continued to print suburban editions for Nassau and Suffolk counties on Long Island.

The nine papers have a combined circulation of 5.5 million papers a day in the metropolitan area. The strike has idled a total of 18,000 employes on the dailies.

The strike was the second in a month at the News, the nation's largest cirulation newspaper with two million copies a day.

The New York unit of the American Newspaper Guild—in a wage dispute with the seven Manhattan dailies—struck the News last month and arrived at a contract that set the pattern for other Guild-newspaper pacts here.

The other newspapers did not close down during that strike, because they have individual contracts with the AFL-CIO Guild, unlike their joint contracts with the craft unions.

The Guild strike, settled with the help of Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz, ended with a contract that gave editorial and business employes an average $8 wage increase over two years. For senior newsmen with top experience, the contract guaranteed a minimum wage of from $173 to $178.50 a week.

The publishers have offered this same $8 increase over two years to the printers, but they have rejected it and are seeking an $18.45 raise over the two-year term of the contract to boost the current day shift base rate from $141 to $159.45.

The printers also seek a 35-hour week instead of the current 36½ hours, a four-week vacation after a year of employment and various holiday and sick benefits.

The typographical union says the publishers are using the Guild settlement as a "fixed position" for the craft unions as well.

"We don't call this good faith bargaining," said union president Betram A. Powers. "They are telling us to take it or leave it."

India Spurns Red China's Peace Terms

NEW DELHI (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru rejected Communist China's terms for settlement of the India-China border war today but offered to refer the border dispute to the International Court of Justice if China withdraws from Indian territory.

Nehru told Parliament India continues to demand that the Chinese withdraw to the positions held Sept. 8. China has called this "utterly unacceptable."

Nehru warned "this war may even last five years or more but I feel confident we shall win."

He called on the Indian people for "determination to refuse to bow down to the imperialist tactics of China whatever happens."

Nehru also had words for the six nonaligned nations meeting in Ceylon in a search of a solution to the India-China conflict.

"The aggression must be undone and the status quo restored," Nehru said. "At present there is no meeting ground between us."

Nehru replied in Parliament to Peking's demand for a "clear and definite" answer to its package proposals for a cease-fire; mutual withdrawal of forces 12.5 miles behind what Peking calls the actual control line of Nov. 7, 1959, and meetings of Chinese and Indian officials to form a demilitarized zone, establish checkposts and return captured personnel.

Main Witness Absent, Murder Case Delayed

BEAVER — As Beaver County Court began two weeks of criminal trials this morning, the case of Carroll H. Williams, ex-Monaca resident charged with murder, was postponed until next Monday because a main witness, a technician of the State Police Laboratory at Harrisburg, could not attend.

Williams is accused of the murder of Mrs. Loretta R. Schultz in New Sewickley Township July 30. The trial was postponed until this month because Dr. Thomas W. McCreary, who performed the autopsy on the body of the 23-year-old divorcee, had left for Europe and was not available for the September term of court.

Tobacco Mark Eyed

RIPLEY, Ohio (AP)—Tobacco men predicted today that sales of burley on the Ripley tobacco market will hit a record 8 million pounds before the holiday recess begins after the Dec. 21. auctions.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I make a better and more secure job of putting up shelves or hanging heavy pictures on a plastered wall?

A. It's always a good idea to locate the studs, so that you can drive your nails into them for a more secure anchor. You can find these studs easily by aid of a compass, which will be attracted by the nails in the studs, thus showing the location of the latter.

Q. I must park my car outside during the winter months, which means much scraping in the morning to remove the frost that accumulates on my windshield. How can I avoid this?

A. Slip some rubber floor mats, waffle-side against the glass, under your windshield wiper blades. When you remove these mats in the morning, your windshield will be clean and dry.

Q. I always have the greatest trouble separating the strips of packaged bacon which are usually pressed so firmly together. Any ideas for this?

A. To help break up this strip-to-strip adhesive, roll the package gently between your hands first one way and then the other, before opening it. The bacon strips will then come apart easily.

Q. What can I do when clothing has left some lint on a freshly-varnished surface that has not fully hardened?

A. Rub with a cloth moistened with turnpentine, and follow with some furniture polish.

Q. How can I freshen the furry side of a fur pelt?

A. You can freshen the fur to a certain extent by rubbing with a cloth dipped in soapy water and wrung out thoroughly. A more thorough effect is obtained by moistening cornmeal with cleaning fluid, rubbing this well into the fur, and then brushing out.

Capt. Wycliff Finally Gets TV Court-Martial

Failure sometimes can be more profitable than success, when you're in the writing business. TV writer Harry Julian Fink can attest to this. He wrote a script titled "The Court-Martial of Capt. Wycliff" four years ago and sold it to CBS for a drama series called "Pursuit." Before Harry's script was produced, "Pursuit" folded in mid-season. A year or so later he extended the story to fit a "Playhouse 90" production, but that series also folded before Harry's script was used.

Hal Humphrey

-:-

HARRY HAD $13,000 in his pocket from those two sales, and "The Court-Martial of Capt. Wycliff" was still his. In 1961 he showed the script to Dick Powell and his Four Star producers. They liked it but feared they couldn't get sponsor approval.

"Just prior to that period," Harry recalls, "Powell had been turned down by his sponsors on another of my scripts. It was about juvenile delinquents."

Then, early this year, director Buzz Kulik joined Four Star. Kulik was to direct Harry's "Wycliff" script for "Pursuit" and was the one who got Harry to expand the script for "Playhouse 90."

Kulik steamed Powell up again, and a go sign finally was given to film the show. Barring further misfires, "Wycliff" will be seen on the Powell show Tuesday (9:30 p.m., Channel 3).

-:-

MEANTIME, Harry has received another $6,000 for the script (this time from Powell), bringing his total earnings on it to $19,000.

Once you've seen the show, you may wonder why all of this timidity around the Powell studio about putting it on.

The story, which Harry says was inspired by the Fuchs spy case some years ago, concerns an immigrant who stole United States atomic secrets, served a prison term, then announced his intention to leave our country and rejoin the enemy. He is shot and killed before he can board the boat for home.

A U.S. Army captain is brought before a court-martial for the murder. Harry says this Army angle may have been what scared Powell. The Pentagon doesn't want its public image made to look the slightest bit ruthless in nature.

IRONICALLY, the prosecuting major (played by Powell; is made to look even harsher in this script because of a moralistic yet ungallant attitude toward his sister (Dina Merrill) who, it turns out, is the accused captain's mistress.

In Harry's "Playhouse 90" version of "Wycliff," the sister wasn't around at all. For commercial appeal, Harry felt the sister angle added melodrama. Shooting a spy as he comes out of a hotel isn't enough melodrama for TV today.

The slightly incredible sister, however, doesn't spoil a tightly written and thought - provoking story examining the age-old temptation of man to try to prove that the end justifies the means.

THREE BRIEF but fine performances by Charlie Ruggles, James MacArthur and Robert Keith add to the strength of the show immeasurably. Powell's own performance is commendable chiefly for his restraint in a role which was wide open for an orgy of scenery chewing.

What now proves to be more startling and melodramatic than the show itself is the fact it took so long to get it on the air. We constantly are being told that there are not enough writers and ideas to materially improve the quality of TV. This is not true.

THE TRUTH IS, as any honest-man in TV will admit, that the medium has allowed so many restrictions to be imposed on it, there is little room left for writers, producers and directors who want to build their stories on truth.

Harry Julian Fink plans to retire next year (at 40), so he can write novels and one pilot TV film a year. When it takes four years and three sales to get one story on the air, who can blame him?

Guess Who Boy Picks For Winner Of Prize?

MCPHERSON, Kan. (AP)—Terry Wedel, 5, was picked at random to draw the lucky ticket for a prize of 100 silver dollars at the weekendwindup of McPherson's Christmas fair.

Terry reached into the box containing about 10,000 tickets and plucked one out.

The winner? Terry's mother, Mrs. Robert Wedel of McPherson.

Crop Duster Escapes Death In Plane Crash

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—Bryan Johnson, 28, was dusting a pepper field Sunday when the engine of his plane failed.

The plane crashed into a row of pine trees, fell 40 feet and landed on its nose, pushing the engine into the cabin. Johnson was pinned against twisted metal.

It took a dozen farm laborers to free the pilot. Johnson was treated at a hospital and released.

HARRY HAD $13,000 in his pocket from those two sales, and "The Court-Martial of Capt. Wycliff" was still his. In 1961 he showed the script to Dick Powell and his Four Star producers. They liked it but feared they couldn't get sponsor approval.

"Just prior to that period," Harry recalls, "Powell had been turned down by his sponsors on another of my scripts. It was about juvenile delinquents."

Then, early this year, director Buzz Kulik joined Four Star. Kulik was to direct Harry's "Wycliff" script for "Pursuit" and was the one who got Harry to expand the script for "Playhouse 90."

Kulik steamed Powell up again, and a go sign finally was given to film the show. Barring further misfires, "Wycliff" will be seen on the Powell show Tuesday (9:30 p.m., Channel 3).

-:-

MEANTIME, Harry has received another $6,000 for the script (this time from Powell), bringing his total earnings on it to $19,000.

Once you've seen the show, you may wonder why all of this timidity around the Powell studio about putting it on.

The story, which Harry says was inspired by the Fuchs spy case some years ago, concerns an immigrant who stole United States atomic secrets, served a prison term, then announced his intention to leave our country and rejoin the enemy. He is shot and killed before he can board the boat for home.

A U.S. Army captain is brought before a court-martial for the murder. Harry says this Army angle may have been what scared Powell. The Pentagon doesn't want its public image made to look the slightest bit ruthless in nature.

IRONICALLY, the prosecuting major (played by Powell; is made to look even harsher in this script because of a moralistic yet ungallant attitude toward his sister (Dina Merrill) who, it turns out, is the accused captain's mistress.

In Harry's "Playhouse 90" version of "Wycliff," the sister wasn't around at all. For commercial appeal, Harry felt the sister angle added melodrama. Shooting a spy as he comes out of a hotel isn't enough melodrama for TV today.

The slightly incredible sister, however, doesn't spoil a tightly written and thought - provoking story examining the age-old temptation of man to try to prove that the end justifies the means.

THREE BRIEF but fine performances by Charlie Ruggles, James MacArthur and Robert Keith add to the strength of the show immeasurably. Powell's own performance is commendable chiefly for his restraint in a role which was wide open for an orgy of scenery chewing.

What now proves to be more startling and melodramatic than the show itself is the fact it took so long to get it on the air. We constantly are being told that there are not enough writers and ideas to materially improve the quality of TV. This is not true.

THE TRUTH IS, as any honest-man in TV will admit, that the medium has allowed so many restrictions to be imposed on it, there is little room left for writers, producers and directors who want to build their stories on truth.

Harry Julian Fink plans to retire next year (at 40), so he can write novels and one pilot TV film a year. When it takes four years and three sales to get one story on the air, who can blame him?

Crop Duster Escapes Death In Plane Crash

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—Bryan Johnson, 28, was dusting a pepper field Sunday when the engine of his plane failed.

The plane crashed into a row of pine trees, fell 40 feet and landed on its nose, pushing the engine into the cabin. Johnson was pinned against twisted metal.

It took a dozen farm laborers to free the pilot. Johnson was treated at a hospital and released.

Sunday Law Hits Santa, 17 Others In West Virginia

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—Eighteen persons — including a jolly, 320-pound Santa Claus—were arrested here Sunday and charged with violating the Sabbath work law.

St. Nick, passing out candy and making with the ho-ho-ho, was among 13 employes arrested early in the evening at Heck's discount store.

The store was crowded with Christmas shoppers, as was another discount store where the manager and his wife said they were operating the store by themselves. They were arrested. Two persons also were arrested at a shoe store and one at a newsstand.

Cabell County Sheriff Harold Frankel said later he planned to withdraw the warrant against the newsstand employe because this was in the so-called "gray area" of the Sunday work law. At least one other newsstand was open but no arrests were made there.

All those arrested posted $500 bond pending grand jury action. Justice of the peace are not empowered to try such cases.

Robber Wounded Fleeing Officers

CLEVELAND (AP) — A Cleveland man shot by detectives following a delicatessen holdup was in poor condition at St. Vincent Charity Hospital today with a shot gun wound in his back.

Police identified the man as Edward Mack Wells, 35, who said he lived at the Esquire Hotel.

Jack Rubin, a Cincinnati salesman, called police Sunday after he saw Wells threatening a clerk, Mrs. Lela Kovach, when he walked into the Euclid Delicatessen, police said.

The alarm was answered by two detectives who sighted Wells shortly after he left the delicatessen. Wells started to run and was shot when he ignored the officers' command to halt, police said.

In Wells' pockets were $58 taken from the delicatessen and a revolver used in the robbery, detectives said.

Optimism And Caution Mark Lumber Picture

By N. B. GIUSTINA
President, Lumber Association

The lumber outlook for 1963 must be considered, at this writing, uncertain.

Personally, I feel optimistic about the year ahead. But this optimism must be qualified by a note of caution when one considers the several indeterminate factors that will have an important bearing on whether 1963 turns out to be a good, bad or indifferent year for lumbermen.

The level of new home building next year will do much to determine the strength of the lumber market, as housing continues to be the largest single customer for our industry's products.

Some experts are predicting a slight increase in new private home starts during the coming year — from an indicated 1.4 million for 1962 to a possible 1,425,000 in 1963.

However, a recent survey by the National Association of Home Builders indicates that, within the total housing framework next year, rental units may rise 4 per cent while for-sale construction may suffer a 1 per cent decline.

Since single - family, for-sale dwellings have traditionally used more lumber per unit than multi-family, rental construction, lumbermen may have to intensify their advertising, merchandising and promotional activities simply to hold their ground in the battle of the market place.

Of course, the currently - projected level of the new residential construction next year could be upset completely by uncertain economic and political conditions, international tensions, and the recently - published executive order on discrimination in housing.

The fortunes of the lumber industry in the year ahead will depend largely on:

Whether the U.S. Tariff Commission recognizes the urgent and long-overdue need to grant domestic lumber manufacturers and lumber workers relief from the mounting volume of softwood imports from Canada;

The extent to which federal agencies accept a greater share of responsibility to promote community stability through policies governing federal timber sales;

The dispatch with which the American Lumber Standards Committee acts to implement the lumber industry's grade simplification and standardization proposals relating to lumber sizes; and

The degree of unity and mutual helpfulness which those in the manufacturing and distribution ends of the lumber industry continue to demonstrate.

Sorority Accepts Bid

HANOVERTON — The Tri - County District Council of Epsilon Sigma Alpha sorority has accepted an invitation from Gamma Gamma Chapter of Salem for an annual dinner to be held next year. Five chapters were represented at the Executive Board's last meeting Monday at the Avalon Restaurant. Committees for the year were appointed.

Automakers Helping Steel

CLEVELAND (AP)—Steel mills are continuing to increase production, reflecting steady improvement in demand for automakers, Steel magaine said today.

Output this week is figured to be slightly higher than the 1.9 million ingot tons poured last week, the magazine said. Mill operations were at 62 per cent of the estimated annual capacity of 160 million tons in the latest week, compared with the previous week's 60.5 per cent.

"If new car sales continue at their record pace, chances are good that automakers will ask their suppliers to ship some January tonnage in late December," the metalworking weekly said. This ship ahead policy was followed by automakers in October and November.

Except for automotive tonnage, sheet steel demand is sluggish, Steel said. "Only relatively small orders are being booked from makers of household appliances, shipping containers, door bucks, shelving, and office furniture," the magazine added.

Steelmakers who figured two months ago that 1963 ingot production would not top 95 million tons now are raising their forecasts, Steel said. "They think there's a good chance next year's output will reach 100 million tons, topping 1962's estimated 98 million."

Tax Slice Urged To Spur Growth In U.S. For '63

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ladd Plumley, president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, said today 1962 was a good year for business, but not good enough.

A prompt tax cut early next year "could go a long way toward restoring more satisfactory economic growth," he said.

Plumley said in a report prepared for the chamber's semiannual business outlook conference that "in a general sense, this year has been the best of our history. But this record, nearly all are agreed, is not good enough."

"A tax cut announced early by the administration, and acted upon by Congress promptly, could go a long way toward restoring more satisfactory economic growth," he said.

Plumley noted that economists who were forecasting a winter recession only a few months ago are now revising their views because of spectacular auto sales and other gains made since the summer business lull.

Plumley said, "We need to use the next few weeks effectively to bring about the needed tax reform with particular emphasis on the cut in personal income tax beginning with the bottom rate and abolishing rates above 50 or 60 per cent entirely, with proportion cuts in between.

Running Out Of Gift Ideas? Why Not Practical Present!

CHICAGO (AP) — Having a hard time finding an unusual but practical gift for a home owner on your Christmas shopping list?

You can easily find it in the store of your neighborhood plumbing and heating contractor, suggests the Plumbing - Heating-Cooling Information Bureau.

A very useful item for most homes is a new faucet for the kitchen sink or one of the bathrooms. If you haven't seen the new and stylish single - lever faucets, you're in for a surprise.

Move the lever one way to control water volume, another way to temper the water from hot to cold. Whether for dishwashing, washing hair or for shaving convenience, the single-lever faucet will be instantly appreciated as a thoughtful gift that will continue to serve for many years.

And while you're looking at your plumber's line of faucets, ask about the new swivel - type aerators to go with them. Movable on a ball joint, this aerator pivots to all areas of the sink or lavatory, making all washing and cleanup tasks easier and quicker.

Of course, you'll find many other possible Christmas gifts at the store of a good plumbing contractor.

How about a modern, super-sensitive thermostat? Or maybe a new showerhead. A glamorous new medicine cabinet would also be appreciated in any household.

Practical surprise gifts galore are possible by consulting an established plumbing contractor.

Columbus Police Cite Man For Scioto Swim

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Twenty-year-old Ronald Lee Genheimer was arrested today on a charge of swimming in the Scioto River, police reported.

No, it wasn't a swim through the ice. In fact, the U.S. Weather Bureau at Port Columbus reports the temperature reached a warm 81 degrees the day that Genheimer allegedly went swimming. That was last July 10.

On that date, Columbus River Patrolmen cited Genheimer on a charge of swimming in an unauthorized place. Genheimer failed to pay the ticket or be slated for court.

Police arrested him on a warrant, based on the charge filed last summer, they explained.

Snow Halts Project

NEW CUMBERLAND — Work on sandblasting the exterior of the Hancock County Courthouse has been halted temporarily because of inclement weather. The contractor for the $6,450 project is the N. P. Spanos Co. of Wheeling. Crews stopped work Wednesday after cleaning three-quarters of the rear of the 40-year-old stone building.

U.S. Court Sets Hearing On Ohio Legislator Setup

CINCINNATI (AP)—A three-judge federal court will hear oral arguments here Tuesday on two suits attacking the 59-year-old Hanna Amendment to the state constitution. The amendment provides there must be at least one state representative from each of Ohio's 88 counties, regardless of their population.

The constitution originally provided for the election of representatives on a population basis.

Foes of the Hanna Amendment have claimed it gives rural counties control of the House of Representatives and yet they have only 44 per cent of the population.

One of the suits was filed by James D. Nolan, Cleveland public relations man in behalf of Cleveland interests. The other was filed by Leonard Sive, head of the Charter Party in Cincinnati. The Sive suit was directed against election boards in Adams, Clinton, Brown and Highland counties as well as Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, State Auditor James A. Rhodes and Secretary of State Ted Brown.

They contend operation of the Hanna Amendment violates the 14th amendment of the federal constitution. They also declared legislative efforts to repeal the amendment have been exhausted by 15 unsuccessful attempts since 1929.

President Urges Project To Curb Pollution Of Air

WASHINGTON (AP)—as other key federal officials noted the tragedy of last week's smog in London, President Kennedy today called for nation action against air pollution.

He said such pollution "continues to jeopardize the economic vitality of our nation and the health of millions of our citizens."

Surgeon General Luther L. Terry of the Public Health Service declared that in addition to being a hazard to health, air pollution may be costing the United States more than $7 billion a year in economic losses.

Their remarks were made in statements prepared for the opening of a national conference on air pollution. The meeting, by ironic coincidence, opened a week after the murderous smog settled on London. It is blamed for 136 deaths to date.

"The tragic news from London," said Secretary of Welfare Anthony J. Celebrezze, "adds a special note of urgency to our meeting."

The conference is being sponsored by the Public Health Service, with an expected attendance of 1,000 physicians, engineers, scientists, legislators, and representatives of business, labor and civic organizations.

Tips Are Offered On Portable Drill

Question: I would like to buy a portable electric drill and have looked at a number of models. I note that those with chucks which are tightened by hand are cheaper than those which use keys for tightening the bits in place. Are the hand chucks safe to use?

Answer: A portable electric drill with a hand chuck is satisfactory if you plan to do little else but simple drilling. However, if you are going to drill large holes in tough material or use the drill with any of the attachments, it is better to get one with either a hex-key chuck or a geared chuck.

A hex - key chuck will grip tighter and stand up under punishment better than a hand chuck, while a geared chuck will take more abuse than either of them.

Mud College Is Used As Storage Building

LOUDONVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Mud College still stands, but it's privately owned now and the building is used for storage.

A century ago, a teacher of a one-room log school remarked that the school was a college. "A mud cottage," someone suggested.

When the log school was torn down in the 1870s, and the present white frame structure built, the new school officially was named Mud College. The last classes were held in the building 25 years ago.

Optimism And Caution Mark Lumber Picture

By N. B. GIUSTINA
President, Lumber Association

The lumber outlook for 1963 must be considered, at this writing, uncertain.

Personally, I feel optimistic about the year ahead. But this optimism must be qualified by a note of caution when one considers the several indeterminate factors that will have an important bearing on whether 1963 turns out to be a good, bad or indifferent year for lumbermen.

The level of new home building next year will do much to determine the strength of the lumber market, as housing continues to be the largest single customer for our industry's products.

Some experts are predicting a slight increase in new private home starts during the coming year — from an indicated 1.4 million for 1962 to a possible 1,425,000 in 1963.

However, a recent survey by the National Association of Home Builders indicates that, within the total housing framework next year, rental units may rise 4 per cent while for-sale construction may suffer a 1 per cent decline.

Since single - family, for-sale dwellings have traditionally used more lumber per unit than multi-family, rental construction, lumbermen may have to intensify their advertising, merchandising and promotional activities simply to hold their ground in the battle of the market place.

Of course, the currently - projected level of the new residential construction next year could be upset completely by uncertain economic and political conditions, international tensions, and the recently - published executive order on discrimination in housing.

The fortunes of the lumber industry in the year ahead will depend largely on:

Whether the U.S. Tariff Commission recognizes the urgent and long-overdue need to grant domestic lumber manufacturers and lumber workers relief from the mounting volume of softwood imports from Canada;

The extent to which federal agencies accept a greater share of responsibility to promote community stability through policies governing federal timber sales;

The dispatch with which the American Lumber Standards Committee acts to implement the lumber industry's grade simplification and standardization proposals relating to lumber sizes; and

The degree of unity and mutual helpfulness which those in the manufacturing and distribution ends of the lumber industry continue to demonstrate.

Sorority Accepts Bid

HANOVERTON — The Tri - County District Council of Epsilon Sigma Alpha sorority has accepted an invitation from Gamma Gamma Chapter of Salem for an annual dinner to be held next year. Five chapters were represented at the Executive Board's last meeting Monday at the Avalon Restaurant. Committees for the year were appointed.

Automakers Helping Steel

CLEVELAND (AP)—Steel mills are continuing to increase production, reflecting steady improvement in demand for automakers, Steel magaine said today.

Output this week is figured to be slightly higher than the 1.9 million ingot tons poured last week, the magazine said. Mill operations were at 62 per cent of the estimated annual capacity of 160 million tons in the latest week, compared with the previous week's 60.5 per cent.

"If new car sales continue at their record pace, chances are good that automakers will ask their suppliers to ship some January tonnage in late December," the metalworking weekly said. This ship ahead policy was followed by automakers in October and November.

Except for automotive tonnage, sheet steel demand is sluggish, Steel said. "Only relatively small orders are being booked from makers of household appliances, shipping containers, door bucks, shelving, and office furniture," the magazine added.

Steelmakers who figured two months ago that 1963 ingot production would not top 95 million tons now are raising their forecasts, Steel said. "They think there's a good chance next year's output will reach 100 million tons, topping 1962's estimated 98 million."

Tax Slice Urged To Spur Growth In U.S. For '63

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ladd Plumley, president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, said today 1962 was a good year for business, but not good enough.

A prompt tax cut early next year "could go a long way toward restoring more satisfactory economic growth," he said.

Plumley said in a report prepared for the chamber's semiannual business outlook conference that "in a general sense, this year has been the best of our history. But this record, nearly all are agreed, is not good enough."

"A tax cut announced early by the administration, and acted upon by Congress promptly, could go a long way toward restoring more satisfactory economic growth," he said.

Plumley noted that economists who were forecasting a winter recession only a few months ago are now revising their views because of spectacular auto sales and other gains made since the summer business lull.

Plumley said, "We need to use the next few weeks effectively to bring about the needed tax reform with particular emphasis on the cut in personal income tax beginning with the bottom rate and abolishing rates above 50 or 60 per cent entirely, with proportion cuts in between.

Running Out Of Gift Ideas? Why Not Practical Present!

CHICAGO (AP) — Having a hard time finding an unusual but practical gift for a home owner on your Christmas shopping list?

You can easily find it in the store of your neighborhood plumbing and heating contractor, suggests the Plumbing - Heating-Cooling Information Bureau.

A very useful item for most homes is a new faucet for the kitchen sink or one of the bathrooms. If you haven't seen the new and stylish single - lever faucets, you're in for a surprise.

Move the lever one way to control water volume, another way to temper the water from hot to cold. Whether for dishwashing, washing hair or for shaving convenience, the single-lever faucet will be instantly appreciated as a thoughtful gift that will continue to serve for many years.

And while you're looking at your plumber's line of faucets, ask about the new swivel - type aerators to go with them. Movable on a ball joint, this aerator pivots to all areas of the sink or lavatory, making all washing and cleanup tasks easier and quicker.

Of course, you'll find many other possible Christmas gifts at the store of a good plumbing contractor.

How about a modern, super-sensitive thermostat? Or maybe a new showerhead. A glamorous new medicine cabinet would also be appreciated in any household.

Practical surprise gifts galore are possible by consulting an established plumbing contractor.

President Urges Project To Curb Pollution Of Air

WASHINGTON (AP)—as other key federal officials noted the tragedy of last week's smog in London, President Kennedy today called for nation action against air pollution.

He said such pollution "continues to jeopardize the economic vitality of our nation and the health of millions of our citizens."

Columbus Police Cite Man For Scioto Swim

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Twenty-year-old Ronald Lee Genheimer was arrested today on a charge of swimming in the Scioto River, police reported.

No, it wasn't a swim through the ice. In fact, the U.S. Weather Bureau at Port Columbus reports the temperature reached a warm 81 degrees the day that Genheimer allegedly went swimming. That was last July 10.

On that date, Columbus River Patrolmen cited Genheimer on a charge of swimming in an unauthorized place. Genheimer failed to pay the ticket or be slated for court.

Police arrested him on a warrant, based on the charge filed last summer, they explained.

U.S. Court Sets Hearing On Ohio Legislator Setup

CINCINNATI (AP)—A three-judge federal court will hear oral arguments here Tuesday on two suits attacking the 59-year-old Hanna Amendment to the state constitution. The amendment provides there must be at least one state representative from each of Ohio's 88 counties, regardless of their population.

The constitution originally provided for the election of representatives on a population basis.

Foes of the Hanna Amendment have claimed it gives rural counties control of the House of Representatives and yet they have only 44 per cent of the population.

One of the suits was filed by James D. Nolan, Cleveland public relations man in behalf of Cleveland interests. The other was filed by Leonard Sive, head of the Charter Party in Cincinnati. The Sive suit was directed against election boards in Adams, Clinton, Brown and Highland counties as well as Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, State Auditor James A. Rhodes and Secretary of State Ted Brown.

They contend operation of the Hanna Amendment violates the 14th amendment of the federal constitution. They also declared legislative efforts to repeal the amendment have been exhausted by 15 unsuccessful attempts since 1929.

Anniversary Gift Thrifty And Welcome

CONWAY, Ark. (AP) — George Hartje came up with a welcome and thrifty anniversary gift for his wife — a college diploma. And he got it for only $3.60.

The story goes back to 1952 when the future Mrs. Hartje graduated, but not quite, from Hendrix College here. There was the matter of a library fine which the school insisted must be paid before a diploma was given.

"She said that after all her father had spent on her education already, she was ashamed to ask him for $3.60 more," Hartje recalled.

The diploma went into the college vault. Two months later the Hartjes were wed and through 10 years of marriage Hartje from time to time heard wistful comments from his wife about the missing sheepskin.

So, when their anniversary came up the other day, the couple drove to the college where Hartje anted up the $3.60. The diploma was brought out, dusted off and conferred on Mrs. Hartje.

Service To Customer Involves Babysitting

LOCKPORT, N. Y. (AP) — Service to the customer involves some pretty strange things, supermarket employe Bob Archie has become convinced.

Archie was putting up a case of tissues when a woman customer approached. She explained she needed someone to mind the baby while she shopped, placed the child in the empty tissue carton for Archie to supervise, and went her way.

Youth Had Feeling He'd Had It Before

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gary McDonald, 11, must have the feeling that he's been through it all before.

On Oct. 2, 1961, in a playground football game at school, he was tackled and suffered a broken left leg. On Oct. 1, 1962, on the same playground, Gary fell in going after a pass — and broke the same leg in about the same spot.

The combo will take part in the Christmas parade in the East End Dec. 22 and at the community sing at Westgate Dec. 23. The group also will appear on downtown streets during the holiday season to play Christmas music.

U.N. Nears End Of Cuba Crisis Talks

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The Soviet Union and the United States were reported today to have agreed to make separate statements in the Security Council to wind up the U.N. consideration of the Cuban crisis.

Informed sources said the Russians had given up their idea that there should be a joint Soviet-U.S. declaration and were going along with the American idea that there should be parallel statements.

The sources said negotiators for the two countries are now talking about what each should say in the statements.

The informants said the United States is still demanding verification that Soviet offensive weapons have been removed from Cuba and guarantees that they will not be brought back, and the Soviet Union is demanding a U.S. pledge that Cuba will not be invaded.

President Kennedy and Soviet Premier Khrushchev agreed on such safeguards in letters Oct. 27 and 28. They also agreed that the Soviet Union would pull out the offensive weapons it had sent to Cuba and the United States would lift the blockade it had imposed to keep more from coming in.

Since then, U.S. reconnaissance has observed 42 medium-range missiles and 42 bombers leaving Cuba aboard Soviet freighters, and Kennedy has lifted the quarantine.

Mother Of 5 Opened Lots Of Cans In '62

NEW YORK (AP) — A mother in a family of five people can expect to have opened 1,250 cans by the end of 1962, according to "Steel Facts," a publication of American Iron and Steel Institute.

Canmakers estimate that this year's production will reach 47 billion cans, up nearly 1.5 billion units from last year, and equal to 250 cans for every man, woman and child in the U. S. A record total of 5.2 million tons of steel will be used.

One of the reasons for the rising total has been ascribed to the increased use of tinplate containers for soft drinks. Preliminary figures indicate 1.7 billion cans of soft drinks this year, up 45 per cent from last year.

System Developed To Detect Pilferers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — By use of tracers and electronic charges which emit radio - like waves or impulses, General Nucleonics Inc. says it has developed a system for business and industry to detect pilferers.

It's Not Always Same In Phone Directory

BRUNSWICK, Ga. (AP) — Telephone directory listings are sometimes complicated.

For instance the directory spells Dr. Hart Odom's name correctly in one place and has it Odum in another.

Potters On Losing End Of Another Close One, 40-39

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

The East Liverpool Potters are starting early on a habit of losing close games. Victims of an overtime loss at Midland in their opener, the Potters dropped a 40-39 decision to Alliance Saturday night on the Aviators' court.

What made Saturday's loss twice as hard to digest for Coach Jim Harris was the fact that it was a Big Eight Conference game.

The Big Eight Conference champ for 1962-63 apparently did not play Saturday night at Alliance. From the performances of both the Potters and the Aviators, they may be battling for the cellar spot in the league unless a sudden change comes about.

—:—

THE LATEST defeat saw the Potters "throw" the game away as Frank McComas floated a soft pass to Randy Stover which was neatly picked off by Lou Tosha, the biggest and slowest of the Aviators, who dribbled half the length of the court and scored the winning basket with only 42 seconds remaining.

Tosha's basket made it 40-39 and concluded a bad night of basketball for McComas, who was an even greater disappointment at Alliance than he was in the opener at Midland a week ago.

DEAN Cline, the Potters' 6-foot-1 forward, was the only member of the Harris-coached squad, that resembled a varsity performer. He kept the Potters in the game, coming up with a 19-point performance, and showed great improvement over his poor start of a week ago.

If it hadn't been for the great work from the pivot by Cline, the Potters wouldn't have been in the game. He scored five field goals and nine of 11 fouls and made his last seven charity attempts.

He was at his best in the first half when he scored 14 of his 19 points, but went a little cold in the third period when he was held without a field goal by the husky 6-foot-4 Tosha.

—:—

EAST Liverpool's two guards, Dave Bowersock and Tom Kraft, who went most of the way in place of Roger Linville who ran into some foul trouble in the first half, were not alert.

They continuously failed to see their teammates in the open down court.

Ed Prentice turned in another steady performance for the Blue and White but only contributed five points.

Behind Cline, who scored almost half of his team's points, were McComas with six points. Prentice five and Bowersock four.

THE POTTERS scored only 13 field goals in their latest exhibition as the foul line kept the Blue and White in the contest. From the charity stripe ELHS dropped in 13 of 18.

The Potters hit 13 of 55 chances for a "below-freezing" 24 per cent. Alliance was 17 for 49, a 34 per cent effort.

East Liverpool held the lead most of the way through the second quarter. Behind 12-11 starting the second period, Prentice put the Potters in front 13-12, but Tosha dropped in a bucket to make it 14-13.

With 6:03 remaining in the first half, Cline hit on two fouls then followed with a basket, staking the Potters to a 17-14 lead. By intermission, East Liverpool owned a six-point margin, 26-20.

—:—

WHILE it seemed the Potters might be on their way to their first win of the season, Alliance went into a press opening the second half, which threw the Potters off keel. In no time, Alliance scored five straight points, to make it 26-25.

Before the third period ended Alliance tied the score at 32-32 with 1:47 remaining. But a few seconds later Kraft dropped in a foul to give ELHS a 33-32 edge.

The score was tied twice in the fourth quarter, once at 34-34 with 5:58 remaining and again at 38-38 on a field goal by Chet Bryant with 2:55 showing on the clock.

CLINE'S foul broke the tie, giving the Potters a 39-38 advantage with 1:55 left. Randy Stover, the Potters' second-string center, missed a pair of fouls with 1:28 remaining.

Alliance gained possession, but couldn't score and the Potters took over until Tosha came up from his defensive position in the back to intercept the feather-like pass from McComas.

The Potters had two more shots at the basket. Kraft came close on a drive under the board and McComas just missed on a jump shot.

Tosha, a 205-pounder and a tackle in football, paved the way for Coach Ron Peeling's team with 18 points, while Bryant added eight.

Tall Tigers Romp Past Beaver Local, 76-43, In Opener

4 Gain Double Figures; Wellsville, Midland Clash Tuesday

By CHUCK CRONIN
Review Sports Writer

Never a loser in basketball to Beaver Local, highly-touted Wellsville High followed the past performance chart to the letter in romping to a 76-43 triumph Saturday night.

The Tigers plunked in their first five shots to seize an early lead and went on to post a decisive victory in their season's debut before 700 fans at Beacom Memorial Gym.

Coach Jack McDevitt's Orange and Black exercised their superior height advantage to pull away quickly to a 14-4 lead.

With three players starting their first varsity game, the Beavers lacked the size and experience to offer but token opposition and trailed all the way.

WELLSVILLE, with virtually all of last year's team returning and with some of the tallest players in the district, looked sharp in spots — particularly rebounding.

"We weren't as polished as I had hoped, but overall I wasn't too dissatisfied," McDevitt said later. "But the next game will be a lot tougher."

The "next game" arrives Tuesday night for the Tigers, who visit Midland which already has won two straight victories. Watching Wellsville tune up for the battle were Midland Coach Hank Kuzma and many of his squadmen.

WELLSVILLE compiled a 52 per cent shooting average for its season opener, although most field goals were scored from close range.

Starting were Ed Nelson, 6-3, and Milton Martin, 6-3, at forwards; Steve Baldwin, 6-5, at center, and Forrest Harris, 6-3, and Andy Dash, 5-11, at guards. Jim Powell, 5-11, got in early as McDevitt rotated his lineup.

The scoring was evenly divided, with three starters and Powell all hitting in double figures. Baldwin led the way with a strong second half, getting 15, while Nelson had 13, Martin 12, Powell 11 and Harris seven. Southpaw Don Welch contributed four points and Mark Leyda six.

BALDWIN, a question mark in McDevitt's plans because of foot surgery this summer, went most of the way and showed he still has a sharp shooting eye from close range. But the big senior center limped badly after the game, still bothered by tender feet. The soreness may not leave for a few weeks but is not expected to sideline him from starting duties.

The Tigers hit 31 of 59 shots from the floor. Beaver Local made 12 of 59 for 23 per cent and had to settle for about one shot each trip down the floor for lack of rebounding power to match that of Wellsville.

"THEY WERE just too big for us, but our kids never quit," commented Beaver Local Coach Tom McCall. McCall pointed out three starters — Dennis Horger, Ron Deering and Gary Shaw — all started their first varsity game. They teamed with veterans George Gaydos and Gary Berhar. Horger, an all-around athlete, led the Beaver attack with eight points and the young sophomore showed good promise as a floor leader.

Wellsville wasted little time in pulling ahead to a comfortable lead. Nelson scored on the opening tip and Martin and Dash followed with field goals for a 6-0 lead. The Tigers hit seven of 13 shots to take an 18-6 advantage by the end of the first quarter. The Beavers managed a lone fielder in the quarter, with Deering scoring from the side.

ADDING to the usual opening night excitement was the new interior of the gymnasium, given a refreshing face-lifting this summer. The improvement included rows and rows of fluorescent lighting, a painted roof and orange and black painted bleacher seats.

In the preliminary, Coach Chick McMillan's Tiger Reserves led all the way in trimming the Beaver Local reserves, 47-37.

Tom Betz scored 16 points and tall Terry Flesch hit 12 to lead Wellsville. McLaughlin and Gaydos had eight points each for Coach John Pape's Beaver Local reserves.

Runnels Hit Champ With .326 Average

BOSTON (AP)—Pete Runnels, frisky as a Colt despite his 34 years and 12 big league seasons, captured the American League batting title in 1962 and thereby joined Hall of Famer Rogers Hornsby in a select category.

The veteran infielder hit .326 for the Boston Red Sox to pace the junior circuit for the second time, the official averages released Sunday showed.

Runnels, who was traded to the Houston Colts last month for outfielder Roman Mejias, is only the second Major Leaguer ever to be dealt to another club after winning a batting crown the previous season. Hornsby was the other. The Rajah moved from the Boston Braves to the Chicago Cubs in 1928 after setting the National League batting pace with a .387 mark.

Tall Tigers Romp Past Beaver Local, 76-43, In Opener

Never a loser in basketball to Beaver Local, highly-touted Wellsville High followed the past performance chart to the letter in romping to a 76-43 triumph Saturday night.

The Tigers plunked in their first five shots to seize an early lead and went on to post a decisive victory in their season's debut before 700 fans at Beacom Memorial Gym.

Coach Jack McDevitt's Orange and Black exercised their superior height advantage to pull away quickly to a 14-4 lead.

"We weren't as polished as I had hoped, but overall I wasn't too dissatisfied," McDevitt said later. "But the next game will be a lot tougher."

The "next game" arrives Tuesday night for the Tigers, who visit Midland which already has won two straight victories. Watching Wellsville tune up for the battle were Midland Coach Hank Kuzma and many of his squadmen.

WELLSVILLE compiled a 52 per cent shooting average for its season opener, although most field goals were scored from close range.

Starting were Ed Nelson, 6-3, and Milton Martin, 6-3, at forwards; Steve Baldwin, 6-5, at center, and Forrest Harris, 6-3, and Andy Dash, 5-11, at guards. Jim Powell, 5-11, got in early as McDevitt rotated his lineup.

The scoring was evenly divided, with three starters and Powell all hitting in double figures. Baldwin led the way with a strong second half, getting 15, while Nelson had 13, Martin 12, Powell 11 and Harris seven. Southpaw Don Welch contributed four points and Mark Leyda six.

But the big senior center limped badly after the game, still bothered by tender feet. The soreness may not leave for a few weeks but is not expected to sideline him from starting duties.

The Tigers hit 31 of 59 shots from the floor. Beaver Local made 12 of 59 for 23 per cent and had to settle for about one shot each trip down the floor for lack of rebounding power to match that of Wellsville.

"THEY WERE just too big for us, but our kids never quit," commented Beaver Local Coach Tom McCall. McCall pointed out three starters — Dennis Horger, Ron Deering and Gary Shaw — all started their first varsity game. They teamed with veterans George Gaydos and Gary Berhar. Wellsville wasted little time in pulling ahead to a comfortable lead. Nelson scored on the opening tip and Martin and Dash followed with field goals for a 6-0 lead. The Tigers hit seven of 13 shots to take an 18-6 advantage by the end of the first quarter. The Beavers managed a lone fielder in the quarter, with Deering scoring from the side.

ADDING to the usual opening night excitement was the new interior of the gymnasium, given a refreshing face-lifting this summer. The improvement included rows and rows of fluorescent lighting, a painted roof and orange and black painted bleacher seats.

In the preliminary, Coach Chick McMillan's Tiger Reserves led all the way in trimming the Beaver Local reserves, 47-37.

Tom Betz scored 16 points and tall Terry Flesch hit 12 to lead Wellsville. McLaughlin and Gaydos had eight points each for Coach John Pape's Beaver Local reserves.

Runnels Hit Champ With .326 Average

BOSTON (AP)—Pete Runnels, frisky as a Colt despite his 34 years and 12 big league seasons, captured the American League batting title in 1962 and thereby joined Hall of Famer Rogers Hornsby in a select category.

The veteran infielder hit .326 for the Boston Red Sox to pace the junior circuit for the second time, the official averages released Sunday showed.

Runnels, who was traded to the Houston Colts last month for outfielder Roman Mejias, is only the second Major Leaguer ever to be dealt to another club after winning a batting crown the previous season. Hornsby was the other. The Rajah moved from the Boston Braves to the Chicago Cubs in 1928 after setting the National League batting pace with a .387 mark.

Ageless Blanda Places Houston Step Closer

By The Associated Press

Ancient George Blanda, who was playing professionally when some of his opponents were still in grade school, has passed, kicked and masterminded the Houston Oilers one step closer to a third consecutive American Football League championship game.

The 34-year-old veteran, in his 13th season in the play-for-pay ranks, passed for one touchdown, kicked three field goals and three extra points as the two-time champion Oilers clobbered Oakland 32-17 Sunday and remained one-half game ahead of Boston in the Eastern Division title race.

The Patriots, who meet Oakland in their regular season finale this Sunday, kept pace as Tom Yewcic passed for two touchdowns in a 20-14 triumph over San Diego. Houston, which also has one game left, against New York Saturday, is out front with a 10-3 record to Boston's 9-3-1.

In the only other game scheduled, Dallas' already crowned Western champions warmed up for their meeting with either the Oilers or Pats by beating second-place Denver 17-10 as Abner Haynes set a league record by scoring his 19th touchdown.

Blanda got the Oilers started in the first quarter with a 54-yard field goal before Charlie Tolar went across on a 2-yard run.

Michaels Helps Steelers To Bowl; Green Bay Rallies To Down 49ers

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Red Hickey almost upset Green Bay with a lonesome quarterback formation Sunday but the Packers finally solved the 49ers' new offense and saved their one-game lead over Detroit in their fight for a berth in the Dec. 30 championship game of the National Football League.

The Packers, who were supposed to have the Western Conference all locked up a month ago, now must sweat it out through the last game of the regular season to make sure they get a chance to defend their NFL title against the New York Giants. Green Bay has clinched a tie for the Western Conference.

Vince Lombardi's men adjusted in the second half and checked John Brodie's passing while rallying for a 31-21 victory. Brodie hit 13 of 15 passes for 168 yards in the first half, throwing key passes to man-in-motion Jim Johnson who lined up with Brodie but drifted out, leaving the quarterback alone to throw at a host of receivers.

Tom Moore, Paul Hornung's replacement, sparked the comeback with a 32-yard touchdown run and Jim Taylor scored his 18th touchdown of the year, tying the league record. The 49ers led 21-10 at the half and still were out front until Taylor scored after almost 2 minutes of the final period. Hornung carried only four times.

Detroit already had hung up a 37-23 victory over Minnesota by intercepting five passes and recovering five Viking fumbles.

New York tuned up for its Dec. 30 opponent by edging Cleveland 17-13 with Ralph Guglielmi at quarterback as a replacement for Y. A. Tittle after the first period.

Pittsburgh clinched a berth in the Playoff Bowl of runner-up teams at Miami Jan. 6 by whipping Philadelphia 26-17 with the help of four field goals by Lou Michaels whose season total of 24 set an NFL record.

Richie Petibon ran 101 yards with an intercepted pass, one yard short of the record, in Chicago's 30-14 victory over the Rams.

Charley Johnson threw five touchdown passes and scored once in St. Louis' 52-20 upset of favored Dallas. Baltimore beat Washington 34-21 in a Saturday game.

Griffith Tops Fernandez, But Issue Isn't Settled

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The private war of Emile Griffith, the world welterweight champion, and Jorge Fernandez of Argentina, has now endured nearly three years and 29 rounds of combat.

And it still isn't really settled.

Officially, Griffith has whipped Fernandez three times. The latest was the ninth-round technical knockout Saturday night.

The first two, in 1960, were fairly controversial.

The latest was an epic in ring rhubarbs. Griffith won it on a punch to the lower groin. It was unintentional but a foul, according to referee Harry Krause.

Fernandez fell, clutching himself.

The referee said it was a glancing punch. But just where it finally landed was open to wide speculation today.

Griffith said it wound up in the stomach. Fernandez claimed otherwise.

The Fernandez corner people swarmed through the ropes. Their fallen warrior was prone and writhing on the canvas, apparently in excruciating pain.

It was a long time before order was restored and the scene was finally quiet today. But here are some answers for the curious:

Nevada boxing rules state that a fighter stricken on a low blow cannot win on the foul, and a fighter, if hit low unintentionally, must continue after having received a reasonable length of time to recuperate.

Paradoxically, a fighter can win a match on a foul, if accidentally delivered, which was how Griffith won this one.

The champion was ahead on two of the officials' scoring cards and even on another through eight rounds.

Tails Of Squirrels Indicate Cold Winter

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP) — Local lore predicts an "old - fashioned winter" on the basis of what it describes as the "best and most reliable sign" — the way squirrels have been carrying their tails.

The superstition is that if a squirrel's tail floats out rearward, it means an easy winter; if it stands straight up and down, it means an average season; if the tail is carried far over the back pointing in the direction the squirrel is traveling, it means an "old-fashioned," or bitter, winter.

In the olden days when squirrel's tails were noted to be almost touching their heads, householders were advised to lay in a barrel of flour, a 100-pound bag of sugar and a gallon jug of molasses, to heap the woodshed with dry wood and to buy a new set or two of extra - heavy "long ones."

Dickinson Winner At Coral Gables

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (AP) — "It's very nice of you," said Gardner Dickinson Jr., the new Coral Gables Open golf champion, to Bill Collins, who blew the last two holes.

Dickinson, of Tequesta, Fla., who hadn't won an important tournament in five years, stroked methodically to a par 71 in Sunday's finals and a 72-hole score of 274. Then he waited for third round leader Collins to cash in the $2,800 first money.

Don Fairfield of Peridido Bay, Fla., playing in Collins' final threesome, cashed in on a hot putter to crack out a 68 and match his 275. Both won $1,650.

One stroke behind, winning $1,000, was Dave Ragan, Sun City, Fla., who had a 71.

Okay In Front Seat, Overloaded In Back

CHEYENNE, Wyo., (AP) — "Was I going too fast?" the worried teen-ager asked when stopped by a Cheyenne police officer.

"Nope, but you're a little overloaded," the officer replied.

"Yes, but we aren't violating the law," the teen - ager said. "We've got only three people in the front seat."

The officer scratched his head and agreed the high school youth was legally right.

"But," he added, "you'd better start unloading a few in the back seat. Eleven kids in the back seat is too many."

Ageless Blanda Places Houston Step Closer

By The Associated Press

Ancient George Blanda, who was playing professionally when some of his opponents were still in grade school, has passed, kicked and masterminded the Houston Oilers one step closer to a third consecutive American Football League championship game.

The 34-year-old veteran, in his 13th season in the play-for-pay ranks, passed for one touchdown, kicked three field goals and three extra points as the two-time champion Oilers clobbered Oakland 32-17 Sunday and remained one-half game ahead of Boston in the Eastern Division title race.

The Patriots, who meet Oakland in their regular season finale this Sunday, kept pace as Tom Yewcic passed for two touchdowns in a 20-14 triumph over San Diego. Houston, which also has one game left, against New York Saturday, is out front with a 10-3 record to Boston's 9-3-1.

In the only other game scheduled, Dallas' already crowned Western champions warmed up for their meeting with either the Oilers or Pats by beating second-place Denver 17-10 as Abner Haynes set a league record by scoring his 19th touchdown.

Blanda got the Oilers started in the first quarter with a 54-yard field goal before Charlie Tolar went across on a 2-yard run.

Michaels Helps Steelers To Bowl; Green Bay Rallies To Down 49ers

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Red Hickey almost upset Green Bay with a lonesome quarterback formation Sunday but the Packers finally solved the 49ers' new offense and saved their one-game lead over Detroit in their fight for a berth in the Dec. 30 championship game of the National Football League.

The Packers, who were supposed to have the Western Conference all locked up a month ago, now must sweat it out through the last game of the regular season to make sure they get a chance to defend their NFL title against the New York Giants. Green Bay has clinched a tie for the Western Conference.

Vince Lombardi's men adjusted in the second half and checked John Brodie's passing while rallying for a 31-21 victory. Brodie hit 13 of 15 passes for 168 yards in the first half, throwing key passes to man-in-motion Jim Johnson who lined up with Brodie but drifted out, leaving the quarterback alone to throw at a host of receivers.

Tom Moore, Paul Hornung's replacement, sparked the comeback with a 32-yard touchdown run and Jim Taylor scored his 18th touchdown of the year, tying the league record. The 49ers led 21-10 at the half and still were out front until Taylor scored after almost 2 minutes of the final period. Hornung carried only four times.

Detroit already had hung up a 37-23 victory over Minnesota by intercepting five passes and recovering five Viking fumbles.

New York tuned up for its Dec. 30 opponent by edging Cleveland 17-13 with Ralph Guglielmi at quarterback as a replacement for Y. A. Tittle after the first period.

Pittsburgh clinched a berth in the Playoff Bowl of runner-up teams at Miami Jan. 6 by whipping Philadelphia 26-17 with the help of four field goals by Lou Michaels whose season total of 24 set an NFL record.

Richie Petibon ran 101 yards with an intercepted pass, one yard short of the record, in Chicago's 30-14 victory over the Rams.

Charley Johnson threw five touchdown passes and scored once in St. Louis' 52-20 upset of favored Dallas. Baltimore beat Washington 34-21 in a Saturday game.

Griffith Tops Fernandez, But Issue Isn't Settled

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The private war of Emile Griffith, the world welterweight champion, and Jorge Fernandez of Argentina, has now endured nearly three years and 29 rounds of combat.

And it still isn't really settled.

Officially, Griffith has whipped Fernandez three times. The latest was the ninth-round technical knockout Saturday night.

The first two, in 1960, were fairly controversial.

The latest was an epic in ring rhubarbs. Griffith won it on a punch to the lower groin. It was unintentional but a foul, according to referee Harry Krause.

Fernandez fell, clutching himself.

The referee said it was a glancing punch. But just where it finally landed was open to wide speculation today.

Griffith said it wound up in the stomach. Fernandez claimed otherwise.

The Fernandez corner people swarmed through the ropes. Their fallen warrior was prone and writhing on the canvas, apparently in excruciating pain.

It was a long time before order was restored and the scene was finally quiet today. But here are some answers for the curious:

Nevada boxing rules state that a fighter stricken on a low blow cannot win on the foul, and a fighter, if hit low unintentionally, must continue after having received a reasonable length of time to recuperate.

Paradoxically, a fighter can win a match on a foul, if accidentally delivered, which was how Griffith won this one.

The champion was ahead on two of the officials' scoring cards and even on another through eight rounds.

Racing At Waterford Called Off For 2 Days

Officials at Waterford Park announced that racing will not be held until Wednesday. A new snow storm began early this morning prompted officials to call off racing today and Tuesday. A spokesman for Waterford Park, said the running strip was in good shape after workmen labored throughout the night but roads to the track may become hazardous with the new snowfall.

Tails Of Squirrels Indicate Cold Winter

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP) — Local lore predicts an "old - fashioned winter" on the basis of what it describes as the "best and most reliable sign" — the way squirrels have been carrying their tails.

The superstition is that if a squirrel's tail floats out rearward, it means an easy winter; if it stands straight up and down, it means an average season; if the tail is carried far over the back pointing in the direction the squirrel is traveling, it means an "old-fashioned," or bitter, winter.

In the olden days when squirrel's tails were noted to be almost touching their heads, householders were advised to lay in a barrel of flour, a 100-pound bag of sugar and a gallon jug of molasses, to heap the woodshed with dry wood and to buy a new set or two of extra - heavy "long ones."

Dickinson Winner At Coral Gables

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (AP) — "It's very nice of you," said Gardner Dickinson Jr., the new Coral Gables Open golf champion, to Bill Collins, who blew the last two holes.

Dickinson, of Tequesta, Fla., who hadn't won an important tournament in five years, stroked methodically to a par 71 in Sunday's finals and a 72-hole score of 274. Then he waited for third round leader Collins to cash in the $2,800 first money.

Don Fairfield of Peridido Bay, Fla., playing in Collins' final threesome, cashed in on a hot putter to crack out a 68 and match his 275. Both won $1,650.

One stroke behind, winning $1,000, was Dave Ragan, Sun City, Fla., who had a 71.

Okay In Front Seat, Overloaded In Back

CHEYENNE, Wyo., (AP) — "Was I going too fast?" the worried teen-ager asked when stopped by a Cheyenne police officer.

"Nope, but you're a little overloaded," the officer replied.

"Yes, but we aren't violating the law," the teen - ager said. "We've got only three people in the front seat."

The officer scratched his head and agreed the high school youth was legally right.

"But," he added, "you'd better start unloading a few in the back seat. Eleven kids in the back seat is too many."

Night Eating Helps Add Poundage

How much food do you eat after dinner at night? Studies have shown that some overweight folks consume about one-third of their calories in the evening.

Ida Jean Kain

Is such night eating hunger or habit? The test is, do you eat at night occasionally, or is this a regular pattern? Some days you actually need more food than on other days. When you are especially active, or when you are up late and feel hungry there is nothing wrong with taking a light snack — such as a glass of milk, a piece of fruit or graham crackers.

But as everyone knows, it's all too easy to fall into the clutches of habit. You are in control if you do not take a snack unless you are really hungry.

COMPLUSIVE eating is something else again. Usually the compulsion to eat stems from some unsolved emotional problem or conflict. Overeating will not solve the problem, so obviously you are on the wrong track.

When you feel you must eat at night even though you have had an adequate dinner, try to reason out what is troubling you underneath. In short, what is eating at you that you want to eat so much?

Many people find that worry makes them hungry. Since worry is ineffectual, it is easy to fall into the habit of eating something to break the worry cycle. It's habit forming.

It does little good to say to yourself, "Well, I'll stop eating at night." A better plan is to think through your whole pattern. Are you trying to do too much work at night so then you begin to feel sorry for yourself and turn to eating as a reward? Are you staying up too late? Or is it largely habit hunger?

When you are willing to reason through the situation you gain enlightenment. This is a mature way of dealing with problems.

For the homemaker, "piecing" is very easy for food is always handy. Many report that by planning good meals and eating them on schedule, they find they are less prone to eat between meals, or to go searching for food after dinner at night.

ENLIGHTENMENT lets us take an objective view. Until we do gain this insight, it is very difficult, if not impossible to change. When we get ourselves into a jam, tension builds up. It is then we revert to old habit patterns.

What is the solution? Well, order is heaven's first law. If we can learn to manage our lives so as to avoid as much as possible the circumstances that lead to tension, then we are on the right track.

Mr. Shnoo's Zoo

BY LUCRECE BEALE

CHAPTER SEVEN

Dr. Kernoodle was a funny little elf with snowy white hair and a long, pointed nose that reached to the bottom of his chin.

He had a hospital on the edge of Santa Land. Over the door was a sign that said, "Animals are welcome. Humans are not."

"Mr. Shnoo is not an ordinary human," said Santa as he introduced Mr. Shnoo to the doctor. "He is a zoo keeper. He keeps so fine a zoo that it is expected the Queen will honor him before Christmas and this will benefit all the animals in the zoo."

"Ah?" said Dr. Kernoodle, scratching his long, pointed nose. "And what brings you here?"

"Honeybun," said Mr. Shnoo. He pulled the little brown bear through the door. "She has had all her teeth blown out and will starve because she can never eat again."

"Tch, tch." said Dr. Kernoodle. He leaned down and opened Honeybun's jaws and poked his long, pointed nose into her mouth. "Tch, tch," he said again. He pulled out his nose and stood up shaking his head.

—:—

MR. SHNOO'S heart dropped and he turned quite pale. "You can't help her?" he asked sadly.

"Don't know," said the doctor. "Go away. Come back later today." He led Honeybun into his office and slammed the door.

"Don't worry," said Santa, taking Mr. Shnoo away. "Dr. Kernoodle is a wizard. Once he built a whole new trunk for an elephant who had lost his in a swinging door. Another time he cured a snake that had swallowed an alligator, head first. Cured the alligator, too."

Mr. Shnoo was greatly cheered. He went with Santa to Santa's house. Mrs. Claus gave them both a pot of hot chocolate and a super-duper, double meringue, graham-cracker - crusted chocolate cream pie, the likes of which, Mr. Shnoo declared, had never been made in the Queen's own kitchen.

After this snack Santa took Mr. Shnoo to see the workshops. All the little elves were back at work making Christmas toys. Mr. Shnoo sat awhile and helped make buttons for panda bear eyes. Then he helped the elves make crocodile tears and kangaroo pockets and bunny tails.

"It's like a zoo!" exclaimed Mr. Shnoo. "The animals are almost real."

"They're real enough to us," said Santa. "And they'll be real for the children who get them if they manage to see it that way."

—:—

THE DAY sped by. Suddenly there was a commotion outside. The elves rushed to the windows but before they could get there the door flew open and in came Honeybun, up on her hind legs and doing a jig!

A polka-dot handerchief was bound round her muzzle and tied with a bow that fluttered and bounced as the little bear danced.

Dr. Kernoodle followed her in. He said she was as good as new and not only could eat but could dance for the Queen for he'd taught her the jig while her new teeth were setting.

"The teeth," he added, "once belonged to a prehistoric dinosaur whose remains I've kept all these years. I stuck them in with my special Never-Fail-Kernoodle-Stickum. They'll do better than her own."

Mr. Shnoo was so happy he begged Dr. Kernoodle to come and be permanent doctor at his zoo. But the doctor said no, he'd die of old age if he left Santa Land for he was already several thousand years old and could only live in a land where years didn't count so much.

Santa took Mr. Shnoo and Honeybun back to the sea and saw them safely into the Blue - Scaled Scholar's mouth.

"I'll come for the reindeer on Christmas eve," said Santa. "But, if you should need me before then, shut your eyes and stand on your head and wiggle your toes and say SELBUORT GNIPPOP three times and I'll come."

Mr. Shnoo saw that SELBUORT GNIPPOP was TROUBLE'S POPPING spelled backwards. He said, "Thank you. I'll remember."

Then the Blue - Scaled Scholar's mouth clamped shut and Mr. Shnoo and Honeybun were on their way.

Tomorrow: The Birds Escape

'What brings you here?' said Dr. Kernoodle.

Senator Hits Aid For Segregated Schools In South

CLEVELAND (AP) — Sen. Lee Metcalf, D-Mont., says taxpayers' money "cannot be used for people to violate the Constitution."

He made the statement Sunday on KYW-TV's "Open Circuit." He said the time will have to come when the President or the secretary of health, education and welfare must decree that federal aid cannot be permtited to those schools that refuse to integrate.

Integration problems in the South have done much to hurt the program of federal aid for education, the senator said.

"Southerners once gave the strongest support to the program, he added. "They needed it most. But with the integration decision of the Supreme Court, Congress lost a large block of votes."

He explained that as the program now stands federal aid has nothing to do with enforcing integration, but said he thought that enforcement must come.

Commenting on the problem of Lake Erie pollution, the senator said Cleveland's tieing together of storm and sanitary sewers was an example of "lack of knowledge, lack of foresight and lack of planning."

Mr. Shnoo's Zoo

BY LUCRECE BEALE

'What brings you here?' said Dr. Kernoodle.

CHAPTER SEVEN

Dr. Kernoodle was a funny little elf with snowy white hair and a long, pointed nose that reached to the bottom of his chin.

He had a hospital on the edge of Santa Land. Over the door was a sign that said, "Animals are welcome. Humans are not."

"Mr. Shnoo is not an ordinary human," said Santa as he introduced Mr. Shnoo to the doctor. "He is a zoo keeper. He keeps so fine a zoo that it is expected the Queen will honor him before Christmas and this will benefit all the animals in the zoo."

"Ah?" said Dr. Kernoodle, scratching his long, pointed nose. "And what brings you here?"

"Honeybun," said Mr. Shnoo. He pulled the little brown bear through the door. "She has had all her teeth blown out and will starve because she can never eat again."

"Tch, tch," said Dr. Kernoodle. He leaned down and opened Honeybun's jaws and poked his long, pointed nose into her mouth. "Tch, tch," he said again. He pulled out his nose and stood up shaking his head.

—:—

MR. SHNOO'S heart dropped and he turned quite pale. "You can't help her?" he asked sadly.

"Don't know," said the doctor. "Go away. Come back later today." He led Honeybun into his office and slammed the door.

"Don't worry," said Santa, taking Mr. Shnoo away. "Dr. Kernoodle is a wizard. Once he built a whole new trunk for an elephant who had lost his in a swinging door. Another time he cured a snake that had swallowed an alligator, head first. Cured the alligator, too."

Mr. Shnoo was greatly cheered. He went with Santa to Santa's house. Mrs. Claus gave them both a pot of hot chocolate and a super-duper, double meringue, graham-cracker - crusted chocolate cream pie, the likes of which, Mr. Shnoo declared, had never been made in the Queen's own kitchen.

After this snack Santa took Mr. Shnoo to see the workshops. All the little elves were back at work making Christmas toys. Mr. Shnoo sat awhile and helped make buttons for panda bear eyes. Then he helped the elves make crocodile tears and kangaroo pockets and bunny tails.

"It's like a zoo!" exclaimed Mr. Shnoo. "The animals are almost real."

"They're real enough to us," said Santa. "And they'll be real for the children who get them if they manage to see it that way."

—:—

THE DAY sped by. Suddenly there was a commotion outside. The elves rushed to the windows but before they could get there the door flew open and in came Honeybun, up on her hind legs and doing a jig!

A polka-dot handerchief was bound round her muzzle and tied with a bow that fluttered and bounced as the little bear danced.

Dr. Kernoodle followed her in. He said she was as good as new and not only could eat but could dance for the Queen for he'd taught her the jig while her new teeth were setting.

"The teeth," he added, "once belonged to a prehistoric dinosaur whose remains I've kept all these years. I stuck them in with my special Never-Fail-Kernoodle-Stickum. They'll do better than her own."

Mr. Shnoo was so happy he begged Dr. Kernoodle to come and be permanent doctor at his zoo. But the doctor said no, he'd die of old age if he left Santa Land for he was already several thousand years old and could only live in a land where years didn't count so much.

Santa took Mr. Shnoo and Honeybun back to the sea and saw them safely into the Blue - Scaled Scholar's mouth.

"I'll come for the reindeer on Christmas eve," said Santa. "But, if you should need me before then, shut your eyes and stand on your head and wiggle your toes and say SELBUORT GNIPPOP three times and I'll come."

Mr. Shnoo saw that SELBUORT GNIPPOP was TROUBLE'S POPPING spelled backwards. He said, "Thank you. I'll remember."

Then the Blue - Scaled Scholar's mouth clamped shut and Mr. Shnoo and Honeybun were on their way.

Senator Hits Aid For Segregated Schools In South

CLEVELAND (AP) — Sen. Lee Metcalf, D-Mont., says taxpayers' money "cannot be used for people to violate the Constitution."

He made the statement Sunday on KYW-TV's "Open Circuit." He said the time will have to come when the President or the secretary of health, education and welfare must decree that federal aid cannot be permtited to those schools that refuse to integrate.

Integration problems in the South have done much to hurt the program of federal aid for education, the senator said.

"Southerners once gave the strongest support to the program, he added. "They needed it most. But with the integration decision of the Supreme Court, Congress lost a large block of votes."

He explained that as the program now stands federal aid has nothing to do with enforcing integration, but said he thought that enforcement must come.

Commenting on the problem of Lake Erie pollution, the senator said Cleveland's tieing together of storm and sanitary sewers was an example of "lack of knowledge, lack of foresight and lack of planning."

Man, 26, Bound Over On Abduction Charges

HILLSBORO, Ohio (AP)—Gerald Eugene Phillips, 26, of Washington Court House is being held for grand jury action under $6,000 bond on three charges of abduction for criminal purposes.

Officials said Phillips allegedly abducted the girls, ages 20, 15, and 14, at gun point Dec. 1 at Greenfield and assaulted the 20-year-old girl.

The last French king was Louis Phillipe, who was deposed by the revolution of 1848.

Junior Editors Quiz on 'OLD LANG SYNE'

QUESTION: Who is Old Lang Syne?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: We all know the famous song starting "Should auld acquaintance be forgot" which we sing at New Year's parties, and yet many have wondered just what "auld lang syne" means — it almost sounds as if it were about some old person named Lang Syne. The song was written by the Scotchman Robert Burns in 1788. Burns was born of very poor parents and had a difficult time as a boy. Yet sorrow and sickness seemed to make him sympathetic with all kinds of people, and when he began to write poetry, his humanity and honest sentiment made him famous at once. Burns seemed to speak for the soul of the Scottish people. The Scotch had developed a somewhat different language from the English. In the Scotch lowlands for instance, they said "wee" for the English "small" and "bonnie" for "pretty." Burns wrote many poems in regular English, but he loved the way so many of the Scotch spoke and wrote many of his finest poems that way. That's why "auld lang syne" seems baffling — it really means "long ago." This poem touches every heart. We all remember some "auld acquaintance" whose company we once enjoyed and who lives somewhere else so we can't see each other any more. Few of us really forget the "days of auld lang syne."

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Think kindly of your "auld acquaintances" as the poem suggests and do something even better — write them letters. This is a fine way of keeping your friendships alive.

★ ★ ★

Rebecca Lambert of Central City, Pa., wins $10 for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review, and you may win $10 or the weekly grand prize of a set of Britannica Junior Encyclodepias.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I remove ink spots from wallpaper?

A. Most ink spots can be removed from wallpaper by applying a weak solution of water and oxalic acid. Apply with a paint brush and press with blotting paper immediately, as the acid might affect the color of the paper. This process might need repeating a second or third time for good results.

Q. How can I clean tarnished brass?

A. A Lemon rind, dipped in salt, then rubbed over the corrosion spots on brass articles, will usually clean it like magic.

Q. How can I prevent a dark ring around the yolk of a hard-boiled egg?

A. By boiling the egg no longer than 15 minutes, and then placing it in cold water.

Q. How can I prevent my china plates from slipping when displaying them on edge on an ungrooved shelf?

A. One good idea is to thumbtack a length of ahesive tape (sticky side up) on the shelf, then rest the bottom edges of your plates on the tape.

Trio Injured In 5 Mishaps On Weekend

Three persons suffered minor injuries in five auto accidents, four of them on secondary roads, which were investigated over the weekend by the Lisbon State Highway Patrol.

Ruth E. Baker, 43, of R. D. 3 wrecked her 1960 sedan Saturday at 11:55 a. m. on Route 170 eight miles south of East Palestine.

Officers said she lost control on the slippery highway, went off the right side and struck a guardrail. Her car was damaged heavily.

Cars driven by Lemuel Rife, 18, of Wood St., Wellsville, and James E. McCune, 24, of 327 Highland Ave., Wellsville, collided head-on Saturday at 4:15 p. m. on Township Rd. 1006 a mile and a half west of Wellsville.

They met at a section closed to one lane by the drifting snow and were unable to stop, officers said. Bill Shinn, 20, of 1030 Coal Hollow Rd., a passenger in the Rife car, suffered a laceration of the forehead. Margaret McCune of Highland Ave., a passenger in the McCune vehicle, suffered bruises.

A car driven by Larry C. Yost, 18, of East Liverpool backed into a parked car owned by William C. Smith, 19, of Negley R. D. 1 on an unmarked township road five miles south of Route 154 Saturday at 9:30 p. m., officers said. Minor damage resulted.
